Introduction

The world is in peril, and only the strongest and bravest of Duelists can save it from total destruction. Someone has conducted a fusion ritual on god cards, which has resurrected Reshef the Dark Being and infused it with the power of the god cards!

Reshef the Dark Being drained the cards of power and turned them into stone. You must restore them, but to do that, you must find and gather the Millennium Items that are scattered around the world.

It's up to you to find the Millennium Items, save the god cards, and vanquish Reshef the Dark Being, sealing it away for eternity. Fail and darkness will shroud the world forever.

An impossible task requires legendary heroes, and you're not alone in this fight. With Yugi and Joey at your side, victory is all but assured. Now assemble your Decks and step up to your first opponent. It's time to DUEL!

Dueling: Yu-Gi-Oh! Style

Yu-Gi-Oh! Reshef of Destruction uses many of the same principals as in Yu-Gi-Oh! The Sacred Cards. There is no Side Deck, but there is a Deck Capacity and card costs. Basic Dueling rules and specifics on creating a Deck are covered in this chapter. Understanding how to make a great Deck within the limitations is key in beating even the more powerful Duelists.

THE TRUNK

- 1 Number: The number assigned to each card
- 2 Name: Name of the card
- 3 Stars: Level of the card
- 4 Attack/Defense, Summon/Type, Cost, or expanded name
- 5 Owned: Total number of card currently owned
- 6 In Deck: Total number of cards that are currently in the Deck

The Trunk stores your Yu-Gi-Oh! cards until they get put into the Deck. There is no limit to the Trunk's capacity, but selling multiples of cards is an easy way to earn extra Dominos. Press ⇧ to open the pause menu. From this menu you can view the character's status, Trunk, and Deck. Selecting Trunk displays a list of every card owned and in the game. Your current Deck Capacity and Deck count are at the top of the screen.

Press ⇧ and the screen switches between Attack/Defense, Summon/Type, Cost, and expanded name. Sort the cards by pressing SELECT. They can be sorted by Number (NO), Name (NM), Attack (AT), Defense (DF), Type (TY), Summon (SU), Quantity (QT), Cost (CT), Star Level (ST), and Effects (EF). This makes it a lot easier to find the cards you're looking for when building a Deck. To add and remove cards from the Deck simply press L and R.

A closer look at a card in the Trunk.

CARD TYPES

The four basic card types are: Monster, Spell, Trap, and Ritual. Monster Cards are the most common and are the bulk of most Decks. They're used for both attacking and for defensive purposes. Spell Cards attack the opponent and enemy monsters directly, or strengthen the player or his monsters. Traps provide a deceptive defense, which can wipe out opposing monsters as they attack. Ritual Cards summon very powerful creatures onto the field by sacrificing specific monsters in play.

MONSTER CARDS

- 1 Name: The name of the monster
- 2 Level: The card's Star Level
- 3 Type: The monster's type (Aqua, Beast, Beast-Warrior, Dinosaur, Dragon, Fairy, Fiend, Fish, Insect, Machine, Magician, Plant, Pyro, Reptile, Rock, Sea Dragon, Thunder, Warrior, Winged Beast, and Zombie)
- 4 Summon: The monster's alignment (Aqua, Divine, Dreams, Earth, Fiend, Forest, Light, Pyro, Shadow, Thunder, and Wind)
- 5 Attack: The monster's attack power (ATK)
- 6 Defense: The monster's defense power (DEF)
- 7 Cost: The card's required Duelist Level and the amount of Deck Capacity required to add it to the Deck
- 8 Description/Effect: A basic description of the monster and any triggered effects

Summon refers to the monster's alignment. There are 11 different alignments. Each alignment has a strength and a weakness. A monster can instantly eliminate enemies of a certain opposing alignment, but the same creature is helpless against monsters of another alignment. The other eight opposing alignments have absolutely no effect on a battle's outcome when the card attacks or defends. The following charts detail how the alignments interact.

Star Level

This monster is a Level 7 and requires a Tribute of two monsters before being brought onto the field.

Each Monster Card has a level, noted on the card by a row of stars. High-level cards require that Tributes be made before they can be summoned. The more powerful the card, the more cards you must sacrifice. Filling a Deck with high-level monsters offers little benefit if you lack the necessary Tributes to summon them. Tributes must already be in play on the Dueling Field before a higher-level monster can be summoned. Refer to the list below for the number of Tributes required for each card level.

Note

Only five creatures can be on the Dueling Field at the same time. Try offering an unwanted monster as a Tribute to bring out a new creature when the Dueling Field is full even if no Tribute is required.

LEVEL	TRIBUTE(S)
1-4	None
9-12	3

Monster Types

The monster's type categorizes the creature with other monsters of a similar type. For instance, all prehistoric monsters are in the Dinosaur category. Most monsters that live in water belong to the Aqua, Fish, or Sea Dragon categories.

Type comes into play in two ways. The most common effect is based upon terrain, which is covered later in this section. Different types are better suited to certain terrains and receive a significant boost to their ATK and DEF when fighting on terrain that agrees with them. Some terrain is harmful to some types, causing creatures to lose ATK and DEF points. Spell Cards often affect only certain types of monsters. For instance, "Violet Crystal" works only on Zombies, and Magicians are the only monsters affected by the "Book of Secret Arts."

Monster Alignments

Though this monster is far weaker than the opponent, it still can win the battle due to the alignments of the two cards.

Yu-Gi-Oh! RESHEF: DESTRUCTION

Prima's Official Strategy Guide

Monster Effects

"Doron" can create a copy of itself if there is an empty spot on the player's field.

Some Monster Cards have effects that can be triggered if the creature has not yet attacked or previously used the effect during the battle. These Monster Cards have an orange background. Effects vary greatly from those that boost certain monster's stats, freeze an opponent's monster, or cause Direct Damage to the opponent, along with many others. If you plan on using a Monster Card's effect, don't summon the monster until you are ready to use its effect. Otherwise the monster is open to attack and may be eliminated before the effect is used.

Examples of Cards That Have Effects

"Hourglass of Life:" An enchanted hourglass that can exchange strength for vitality. It can power up all monsters on the own field for 1000 LP.

"Mystic Lamp:" An enchanted lamp that has a special power despite its stats. Its attack power can be used to damage the opponent directly.

"Monster Eye:" A sneaky familiar that spies on foes from a variety of places. It has the ability to reveal the cards in the foe's hand.

Divine Cards

Divine creatures are some of the most powerful and expensive Monster Cards in the game.

Some creatures are simply more powerful than others. These are known as Divine Monsters. They offer high ATK and DEF, but their high cost restricts their usage. However, Divine Monsters are totally immune to alignment effects. That makes them tough and very difficult to eliminate. There's nothing more frustrating than bringing out a powerful Level 8 Pyro Monster such as a "Lava Golem" only to have it immediately wiped out by a Level 1 Aqua Monster such as "Ameba." Divine Monsters may not be totally safe due to some powerful Spell and Trap Cards, but they're a lot harder to eliminate than the average creature and well worth the cost.

SPELL CARDS

- 1 Name: The name of the spell
- 2 Type: Notes that the Spell Card is a type of magic
- 3 Cost: The Duelist Level required to use the card and the amount of Deck Capacity required to add it to the Deck
- 4 Effect: The Spell Card's effect when activated

Spells Cards are powerful magic with a wide variety of effects on you or your opponent's cards and Life Points. Typically, the stronger the magic wielded by the Spell Card, the higher the cost. Spell Cards are played in addition to Monster Cards and any number may be used during a turn. Learning when and how to use Spell Cards can sometimes make a difference between winning and losing a Duel.

All Spell Cards are placed on the field face-down to hide their effects from opponents. This creates some deception, because the opponent can't tell if the cards are Spells or Traps. Spell Cards frequently appear before they're needed, so they sit on the board for some time before being used. This allows the opponent to eliminate them with a Spell of his own.

Knowing when to play a Spell Card is tricky, and even more so when playing a computer-controlled opponent that looks for signs of weakness. Sometimes it pays to wait, but eventually you have to strike, otherwise opportunities for a quick victory are missed. There's no simple rule as to when to play a Spell Card. Experience is the best teacher. Just remember that using them too quickly or waiting too long can be equally devastating.

Examples of Spell Cards

"Restructer Revolution:" An attack spell that directly hits the opponent's LP. It inflicts 200 LP damage for every card in the foe's hand.

"Black Pendant:" A pendant that is imbued with a magic-enhancing power. It can power up a chosen magician or a female.

"Tremendous Fire:" A Spell Card that ignites an inferno of ferocious intensity. It inflicts 1000 LP damage directly on the opponent.

FIELD SPELL CARDS

Playing the "Forest" Spell Card benefits Plants, Beast-Warriors, Insects, and Beast cards.

Spell Cards that change the Dueling Field's environment benefit low- and high-level Decks alike.

Add a Spell Card to your Deck that has a favorable impact on most of the Monster Types in your Deck. Once played, this Spell Card increases the ATK and DEF of all monsters that react favorably to the terrain by 30 percent.

Ideally, play a Spell Card that increases most of your Monster Cards ATK and DEF stats and decreases most of your opponent's Monster Cards stats. But never have a Deck with only one type of monster.

Because Field Spell Cards cost only 40 points, add a few to your Deck to help beef up your cards. Familiarize yourself with the type of Deck your opponent typically uses and make the most of it. Refer to the following chart to find out which Monster Types are affected by Field Spell Cards.

Monster Type	Favored Terrain	Unfavorable Terrain
Aqua	Sea	None
Beast	Forest	None
Beast-Warrior	Forest, Field	None
Dinosaur	Wasteland	None
Dragon	Mountain	—
Fairy	None	Darkness
Fiend	Darkness	None
Fish	Sea	None
Insect	Forest	None
Machine	None	Sea
Magician	Darkness	None
Plant	Forest	None
Pyro	None	Sea
Reptile	None	None
Rock	Wasteland	None
Sea Dragon	Sea	None
Thunder	Mountain, Sea	None
Warrior	Field	None
Winged Beast	Mountain	None
Zombie	Wasteland	None

Card Name	Field Created
"Forest"	Forest
"Wasteland"	Wasteland
"Mountain"	Mountain
"Sogen"	Field
"Umi"	Sea
"Yami"	Darkness

Examples of Field Spell Cards

"Forest:" A Spell Card that changes the field into a verdant forest. It benefits plants, beast warriors, insects and beasts.

"Sogen:" A Spell Card that changes the field into a grassy meadow. It benefits Beast-Warriors and Warriors.

Yu-Gi-Oh! RESHEF & DESTRUCTION

Prima's Official Strategy Guide

"Yami." Transforms the field into darkness. It benefits Spellcasters and Fiends, and disadvantages Fairies.

RITUAL SPELL CARDS

To summon a "Black Luster Soldier," play "Black Luster Ritual" and sacrifice "Gaia The Fierce Knight."

Ritual Spell Cards are a great way to summon high-level monsters without actually having them in the Deck. Ritual Monsters are extremely powerful and thus they have a high cost and require a high Duelist Level; but Ritual Spell Cards have no cost, so they can be used by anyone with the proper Tribute.

Monsters that are summoned using Ritual Spell Cards can be summoned as usual if you own their cards. Just pay the Tribute as you would with any other high-level monster to bring these powerful creatures onto the field.

Note

To use a Ritual Spell Card, make sure the Monster Card listed on the Ritual Card is already in play along with two other Tributes. Place the Ritual Spell Card on the field and immediately sacrifice the two Tribute creatures. Activate the Ritual Spell Card, and the monster specified on the card is transformed into the Ritual Monster.

Examples of Ritual Spell Cards

"Dark Magic Ritual." Summons a "Magician of Black Chaos" in return for a Tribute. For this, a "Dark Magician", etc., is needed.

"Black Illusion Ritual." A ritual for summoning a "Relinquished" in return for a Tribute. For this, a "Dark-Eyes Illusionist," etc. is needed.

TRAP CARDS

The "Eatgaboon" and other Trap Cards are a great way to catch an opponent off guard.

Trap Cards are a must-have for everyone's Deck.

Trap Cards typically have a low cost, so they have very little impact on Deck Capacity. Once played, a Trap Card activates when certain conditions have been met. The "Eatgaboon" Trap Card is an excellent example. Once played, it automatically intercepts and destroys any attacking enemy monsters with an ATK of 1000 or less. Put several Trap Cards in your Deck to help protect weaker monsters and make it easier to bring out high-level monsters with Tributes.

Examples of Trap Cards

"Bear Trap." A Trap Card that is deadly to stronger monsters that attack it. If the monster's ATK is 1500 or less, the trap wipes it out.

"Acid Trap Hole." A Trap Card that is deadly to any monster that attacks it. If the monster's ATK is 3000 or less, the trap wipes it out.

"Anti Raigeki." A Trap Card that protects the player's monsters from "Raigeki." Instead, it destroys all the monsters on the foe's field.

DECK SIZE

All Duelists must have 40 cards in their Decks. How the Decks are made is entirely up to the Duelist, though we'll suggest a few tricks to help you get past tough opponents.

DECK CAPACITY

This Deck has exceeded its Deck Capacity. Cards must be switched out to fall below the Deck Capacity.

Each card has a cost. All the cards that make up your Deck cannot exceed your maximum Deck Capacity. The higher the card cost, the more space it takes up in your Deck. Because Yu-Gi-Oh! Reshef of Destruction incorporates a Deck Capacity, you must be careful when choosing the cards with which to Duel. This prevents new Duelists from loading up on high-level Monster Cards until he or she has increased the Deck Capacity enough to add them.

To increase your Deck Capacity, you must defeat other Duelists. Depending upon the strength of your opponent, your Deck Capacity increases 1–3 points with every successful Duel.

DUELIST LEVEL

A character's Duelist Level determines which cards can be placed in the Deck. Only cards with a cost equal to or less than the character's Duelist Level may be used. If a card is above the character's Duelist Level, the normal card text is replaced with a message that explains the situation and the card's name is purple in the Trunk menu.

Challenging and defeating opponents raises your Duelist Level. Most victories are worth 3 points, but some are worth as little as 1. It takes a lot of Dueling to get your Duelist Level to 999, which allows you to use any card in the game.

TIME TO PLAY!

ANTE

Use duplicates of great cards as antes before each match to win even better cards in return.

At the beginning of every Duel you can ante a card from your Deck or Trunk. Choosing to ante a card forces your opponent to ante up as well. If you win the Duel, you win your opponent's card, and if you lose the Duel, you lose your card. The better the ante, the better your reward for victory. One-of-a-kind cards cannot be used as an ante. You must have at least two of the cards before the ante will be accepted. If you ante a low-value card, the game questions the choice and presents an opportunity to change your offering. It isn't necessary to ante before every Duel, but remember ... no risk, no reward.

DUELING ACTIONS

You can perform five actions on each turn, assuming that the necessary cards are in play or in your or your opponent's hand. It isn't necessary to perform an action on a turn; you can pass. Only one Monster Card may be summoned on each turn, but you can play as many Spell or Trap Cards as desired, as long as space is available on the field.

- 1 Summon a monster
- 2 Make Tributes for summoning
- 3 Attack your opponent
- 2 Play any Trap or Spell Cards
- 5 Activate effects

Summon a Monster/Make Tributes

It's time for this creature to take its place on the field.

Only one monster may be brought onto the field each turn. First it must be determined if the Monster Card requires a Tribute. Anything that is Level 5 or more requires a Tribute of one or more cards. (If it's the first turn of a Duel, no Monster Cards requiring a Tribute may be brought onto the field, because there's no chance that the required Tributes will be present.) If no Tribute is required, the Monster Card is placed on the field face-down in the Attack or Defense Position. If a Tribute is required, sacrifice the required number of Monster Cards that are already in play and then activate the monster to be summoned.

Attack the Opponent

The opponent's card has no chance of surviving this battle.

Yu-Gi-Oh! RESHEF: DESTRUCTION

Prima's Official Strategy Guide

Once your monster has been placed on the Dueling Field it can be used to attack an opponent. The only time this isn't true is on the first turn. A monster played on the first turn cannot attack until the second turn.

To attack, choose the card that will attack and the target monster on the opponent's side of the field. The ATK of the attacking card is compared with the victim's ATK or DEF depending on the card's posture. If the attacker's ATK is higher than the opponent's ATK or DEF (whichever is being used), the opponent's monster is defeated and sent to the Graveyard.

If the opponent's card was in the Attack Position, the difference between the attacking monster's ATK and the opponent's ATK is then applied to the opponent's LP. For instance, if the attacking card has an ATK of 1000 and the victim had an ATK of 400, the opponent's LP is reduced by 600. If the opponent's monster was in a Defense Position, no damage is caused to the opponent's LP. If the opponent has no monsters in play, his LP may be attacked directly.

Play Trap or Spell Cards

This player's cards are well protected and the enemy is about to get a nasty surprise.

Trap and Spell Cards are placed on the field face-down. You may continue to place Trap and Spell Cards so long as there's room on the field. Trap Cards remain face-down until the opponent attacks and the conditions specified on the card are met. At that time, the appropriate Trap Card is automatically activated. Spell Cards may be played at any time during your turn, so long as there is a valid target on the field.

DEFENDING

A high ATK isn't always necessary.

At times a strong defense is better than a powerful offense. Don't pass up Monster Cards that feature a monstrous DEF. If the opponent can't get past your monsters, he can't damage your LP.

A card doesn't have to have a high DEF to be put into a Defense Position. When the opponent has the advantage and there's no way the monsters on the field can stop his monsters, put your monsters into a Defense Position. They'll be eliminated but your LP remains intact so long as you have enough creature to block your opponent's attacks.

Note

A card can be placed in a Defense Position only if it isn't used to attack during your turn.

KEEP UP THE PRESSURE

Get rid of those cards fast, or something stronger may be on the way.

Don't underestimate an opponent playing weaker cards. If you ignore these cards, deciding to perform other actions on your turn, the opponent may bring out more powerful cards by using the weak cards as Tributes. Pound away at the opponent and wipe out any card that can be destroyed when the opportunity arises.

BAIT A POSSIBLE TRAP

Those cards could be Traps or Spells, so be careful.

Sometimes an opponent attempts to lure you into a trap by placing a weak card on the Dueling Field. Summon a weak monster to attack the bait to ensure that the opponent doesn't have a Trap Card lying in wait. Don't risk a stronger monster if it can be avoided.

WINNING THE DUEL

- 1 Your opponent's Life Points reach zero
- 2 Your opponent runs out of cards
- 3 You play all of the "FINAL" cards onto the Dueling Field
- 4 You play all five pieces of "Exodia the Forbidden One" onto the Dueling Field

To win the Duel by executing the Destiny Board cards, the Destiny Board Card and the four Spirit Message Cards must be on the Dueling Field. Victory is automatic if the "FINAL" message is displayed. The Destiny Board Cards are Trap Cards and are safe from destruction by an opponent's Monster Cards unless a card is played that wipes out your Trap Cards. The five cards needed to win the Duel are:

F "Destiny Board"

I "Spirit Message I"

N "Spirit Message N"

A "Spirit Message A"

L "Spirit Message L"

"Exodia the Forbidden One"

For an automatic win using the Exodia cards, the Duelist must have all five pieces of Exodia in his hand. The Rare Hunter often tries to win Duels by playing the Exodia cards, so remember this when you Duel him. The five pieces of Exodia are:

"Exodia the Forbidden One"

"Left Arm of the Forbidden One"

"Left Leg of the Forbidden One"

"Right Arm of the Forbidden One"

"Right Leg of the Forbidden One"

At the end of the Duel, your Deck Capacity increases 1-3 points and your level may rise, depending upon your opponent's level compared to your level. Your level increases only once with a Duel victory. You also win Dominos, which are the currency used in Domino City. The number of Dominos you win depends on your opponent's level.

RESTORE YOUR LIFE POINTS

Visit home often to restore lost LP.

After a Duel, return home and use the computer on the desk to restore your Life Points. You can also save your game. Do this before each major Duel so if the Duel doesn't go well, you can reload your game and evaluate your Deck structure before trying again.

LEVEL UP!

This card level is too high for this Duelist to add it to his Deck.

As you progress through the game, your opponents become harder to defeat because of their high levels. To increase your level, you must win Duels. The more Duels you win, the faster your level rises. To add powerful Monster Cards to your Deck, your level must be at least as high as the cards' Deck cost. Most residents of Domino City will Duel with you at least once, but a few you can repeatedly Duel with little fear of losing. Your Deck Capacity doesn't increase as much when you enter easy-to-win Duels.

NEW CARDS!

Visit the Gaming Shop often, but bring lots of Dominos.

Besides winning cards in Duels, you can purchase cards at the Gaming Shop in the southwest corner of Domino City. Grandpa's selection isn't very impressive at first, but each time you win a Duel, Grandpa adds more cards to his inventory. Cards can be very expensive. Spend Dominos wisely and think about your card choice before spending that hard earned dough! You can sell duplicate cards to Grandpa for half their purchase price. You cannot sell cards of which you only have one copy.

PASSWORDS

Password monitors allow you to add cards to the Gaming Shop.

Sometime you may want a certain card that Grandpa doesn't have. To increase his stock, turn on the computer, agree to pay 1000 Dominos, and input the password for the card you want Grandpa to sell. The card appears in Grandpa's selection.

This adds the card to the shop's inventory. You still have to buy the card to add it to your Deck. This is an expensive way of getting specific cards, but if you have a certain Deck in mind it's the only way to put it together quickly.

Prima's Official Strategy Guide

DECK-BUILDING TIPS AND TRICKS

CHOOSE YOUR CARDS

High-level cards eat up your Deck Capacity.

First Deck won't have many options.

You'll have a variety of Summon Spell Cards, and Trap Cards from which to choose. To be successful, fill half the Deck with Monster Cards, most of which can be Tribute monsters. Don't include too many high-level cards that require Tributes, or you may have trouble getting monsters onto the field. If you can't summon a monster during your turn, you leave yourself open to having your Life Points directly attacked.

High-level cards also have a higher card cost. In the beginning, your Deck Capacity isn't very high. Choosing only high-level cards will deplete your Deck Capacity before you reach the mandatory 40 cards.

EFFECT CARDS

"Electric Haze" stops one of your opponent's cards from moving for one turn.

Whenever possible, add cards to your Deck that can perform as a regular summon monster that can attack and defend, create an effect that vanquishes specific enemy cards, or attack your opponent's Life Points directly. Make the most of your Deck Capacity by using these beneficial monsters.

TRAP AND SPELLS

"Eatgaboon" can wipe out an attacking monster with an ATK of 1000 or less.

Trap and Spell Cards are an excellent and inexpensive way to make your Deck more powerful.

Some Traps protect your Life Points by eliminating your opponent's monsters when they attack, and some Spell Cards attack your opponent's Life Points directly. Use Trap Cards such as "Eatgaboon," "Bear Trap," or "Acid Hole" to eliminate attacking monsters. Add one or two "Red Medicine" Spell Cards to restore your Life Points.

INFLATE YOUR MONSTER'S STATS

"Dark Energy" powers up a Dark being by 500 points.

Even though your Deck Capacity restricts filling your Deck with lots of high-level monsters, you still can have a few powerhouses. Spells that inflate the ATK and DEF stats of your monsters typically cost more than Trap or Spell Cards, but boosting your monsters' stats helps you defeat stronger opponents.

DECK CONSTRUCTION

Your Deck Capacity determines the total card cost of your Deck. However, the choice of cards to include in your Deck is all up to you.

Fifty to sixty percent of your Deck should consist of Monster Cards, and most of those should be non-Tribute cards. Tribute cards don't help if you don't have enough non-Tribute cards to sacrifice for them. Don't become attached to high-powered cards you won't be able to play. Those cards may look great, but they won't do you any good sitting in your hand because you can't afford to play them.

Fill the other 40-50 percent of your Deck with Spell and Trap Cards. Mix up the types of Traps and Spells. Save some Deck Capacity for one or two Spell Cards that replenish lost Life Points.

DECK MUST-HAVES

A few cards are a must-have for any Duelist. Some of these cards have higher-level versions of the same type of card and have a higher card cost. Replace the lower cost versions when you can. Be mindful of your Deck ratio and don't overload it with Trap and Spell Cards. Monster summoning is still the heart of your Deck. Build your strategy around the types of monsters available.

Name	Cost	Description
"Acid Trap Hole"	70	Wipes out an opponent's attacking monster with an ATK of 3000 or less.
"Beckon to Darkness"	15	Banishes an opponent's Monster Card from the Dueling field.
"Eatgaboon"	10	Destroys an attacking monster whose ATK is 1000 or less.

Cost	Description
100	Sweeps away all Spell and Trap Cards on your opponent's Dueling field
150	Destroys every monster on your opponent's Dueling field
5	Restores 500 Life Points
	Inflicts 50 points of damage

TOP CARDS

The following is a sample of some of the best cards in the game, based upon a variety of categories. These lists don't consider things such as the player's Duelist Level, Deck Capacity, and any potential themes, so they are not absolute.

NON-TRIBUTE MONSTERS (LEVEL 4 OR LESS)

- Big Shield Gardna" (DEF 2600/Cost 532)
- Boar Soldier" (ATK 2000/Cost 319)
- Castle of Dark Illusions" (DEF 2500/Cost 493)
- Dark Elf" (ATK 2000/Cost 319)
- Flash Assailant" (ATK 2000/Cost 319)

STAY FLEXIBLE!

Now that you have the basics of how to build a deck, it's time to build a Deck using some of the tips we've provided. Pick a theme, choose your cards, and your card selection grows. You may want to swap out a card for one of card over another. If you decide to build a deck with a specific theme, like Pyro, Earth, etc., monsters, that's fine. Just keep in mind that Decks created with one focus to a monster, Spell, or Trap card may have a weakness when facing cards with a different theme. Decks with a specific theme may have a theme. Add a few Monster Cards that are flexible. Flexibility ensures victory on the Dueling Field.

Search for the Millennium Items

DOMINO CITY: CLOCK TOWER SQUARE

THE SEARCH BEGINS

Yugi and Joey join you
on your quest.

Yugi's Millennium Puzzle is gone, along with Yugi's other self! Agree to help Yugi search for his Millennium Puzzle, then head to Clock Tower Square. Ishizu appears and asks for your help. The disappearance of the Millennium Items is due to the resurrection of Reshet the Dark Being. Someone conducted a Fusion ritual on the god cards, allowing Reshet to steal their power and re-emerge in this world. The cards, drained of power, were turned into stone, making them absolutely useless. To return the Dark Being to its dungeon, the Millennium Items must be recovered and the god cards restored.

The Millennium Items have been scattered all over the world, but Ishizu, as a descendent of a clan of Crystal Warriors, can sense their pulse and direct the search. The first Millennium Item is located at the Egypt Exhibition, which can be reached via the Railway Exit at Clock Tower Square through the northwest road to reach the World Map and travel to Domino Station.

GRANDPA'S GAMING SHOP

One-stop shop for all your gaming needs.

Leaving Clock Square, stop at Grandpa's Gaming Shop in Domino City's southwest corner. Grandpa sells a variety of cards and he'll gladly purchase any extra cards in your Trunk. The better the card, the more expensive it is. At the start of the game, not much is available, so don't worry if you don't see a "Blue-Eyes White Dragon."

If Grandpa isn't selling a particular card, you can add it to his stock by using the Password Terminal next to the counter. It allows Dominoes to use the terminal, so choose wisely before entering a password. Note that entering a password doesn't add the card to your Deck or Trunk; it only adds it to Grandpa's inventory. You still have to buy the card.

It Grandpa isn't selling a particular card, you can add it to his stock by using the Password Terminal next to the counter. It

Grandpa will not buy one-of-a-kind cards. Have at least two of a card in the Trunk before trying to sell one.

Note

Yugi and Joey are ready to Duel!

While in the Gaming Shop, Yugi and Joey separate from the hero, which presents an opportunity for you to Duel them. Both have tough Decks that evolve throughout the game. However, they're usually the best to win good cards from.

KAIBA CORPORATION

Defeat Rebecca to gain access to the Kaiba Corporation's KC-1000 Dueling Machine.

The Kaiba Corporation building holds a modern marvel, the KC-1000 Dueling Machine. You must defeat Rebecca before you can enter the building. The KC-1000 is probably the best place to fight repeatedly when building your Duelist Level and Deck Capacity, and trying to earn better cards. The machine has three difficulty settings. The Novice setting is the equivalent of a Duel with one of the Common Duelists, so winning is a breeze. The Standard and Expert settings are considerably more challenging.

LEVELING UP

Don't pass up an opportunity to challenge a pedestrian to a street Duel.

Before traveling to Domino Station, explore Clock Tower Square. Lots of Duelists roam around and will accept a challenge. Dueling them allows you to increase both your Duelist Level and Deck Capacity. There are two basic types of Duelists: Common and Named.

Common Duelist refers to the average Joe walking the street. These nameless pedestrians usually are happy to accept street Duel, but you can beat each only once. After being beaten, they turn down any Duel request. Always challenge the Common Duelists in an area before taking on the Named Duelists. The boosts to your Deck Capacity and Duelist Level plus the cards earned are often essential to victory.

Named Duelists are regulars on the TV show. They're generally more challenging than the Common Duelists and can be Duels an infinite number of times. Every Named Duelist is eager for a challenge. Some of them improve their Decks as your Duelist Level increases so they're always competitive. Others use the same Deck throughout the entire game and are an easy mark when looking for a quick Duel. Dueling Named Duelists is also a great way to earn extra cards, which you can sell for Dominoes to later purchase specific cards from Grandpa's Gaming Shop.

Note

For each of the Duelists, we've supplied a sample of the cards contained in their Decks. This should make it a bit easier to strategize before starting a Duel. However, these lists are not complete. Some characters upgrade their Decks over time. Unless we specify that a Named Duelist always uses the same Deck, you should assume that the character's Deck evolves.

COMMON DUELISTS

The Common Duelists in Clock Tower Square aren't much of a challenge. Their Duelist Levels are low and their cards are some of the weakest. Use antes before every Duel and pay attention to the rewards. Strengthen your Deck with the new cards by the weakest. Don't worry about having a theme at this point; the card selection is very limited, so just focus on filling your Deck with cards that have high ATK or DEF.

Sample Cards: Clock Tower Square Duelists

Name	Level	Type	Summon	ATK	DEF
"Flame Flower"	2	Plant	Forest	750	400
"Flame Jar"	1	Rock	Earth	400	200
"Flame Jar"	1	Machine	Fiend	300	350
"Flame Slime"	1	Aqua	Aqua	400	300
"Flame Ghoul"	N/A	Spell	N/A	N/A	N/A
"Flame Fairy"	1	Fairy	Light	400	300
"Flame of Faith"	1	Magician	Light	300	400
"Flame Lamp"	1	Magician	Shadow	400	300
"Flame Specter"	1	Zombie	Fiend	500	200
"Flame Zaurus"	2	Dinosaur	Earth	500	400

Named Duelists

The part of Domino City contains several Named Duelists. Most of them are fairly challenging, but even your Starter Deck should be sufficient for most Duels. However, avoid a couple of Named Duelists until you have stronger cards.

Duke

Challenge Duke for anything when challenging Duke to a Duel.

Duke is in front of Grandpa's Gaming Shop in the southwest corner of Clock Tower Square.

His Deck is only slightly better than the Common Duelists that roam the streets, so he isn't too difficult to beat at first. However, his Deck alters as your Duelist Level increases. Continue improving your Deck regularly, or he'll quickly become too powerful. Keep replacing weak cards with stronger ones and keep a balance of Trap, Spell, and Monster Cards.

Watch out for the "Hourglass of Life" cards in his Deck. These allow him to sacrifice 1000 LP to power up all of his monsters in play. This can be devastating if you don't react quickly. The best way to defend against it is to keep his field cleared of monsters, so only the "Hourglass of Life" is strengthened. Then just have a couple of Level 5 or 6 monsters ready to jump into battle, a "Bear Trap" or two to set on the field, and a few Spell Cards to eliminate these monsters without a fight.

Sample Cards: Duke

Name	Level	Type	Summon	ATK	DEF
"Bewitching Phantom Thief, The"	2	Magician	Dreams	700	700
"Firegrass"	1	Plant	Forest	750	400
"Heavy Storm"	N/A	Spell	N/A	N/A	N/A
"Hourglass of Life"	1	Fairy	Light	400	300
"Meotoko"	1	Machine	Fiend	300	350

"Phantom Dewan"	1	Magician	Shadow	400	300
"Restructer Revolution"	N/A	Spell	N/A	N/A	N/A
"Serpent Marauder"	2	Dinosaur	Earth	500	400
"Winged Cleaver"	2	Insect	Light	400	300

Joey

Joey provides an excellent barometer for your Deck.

You can challenge Joey only inside of Grandpa's Gaming Shop in the southwest corner of Clock Tower Square. He has a good Deck with some very powerful cards but a few exploitable weaknesses. The strongest cards in Joey's Deck are Pyro or Earth alignments, so a Deck with plenty of Wind and Water-Type monsters can easily hold him off. He relies heavily on his ability to quickly power up his monsters, so never allow him to gather monsters on the field. Cards such as "Final Destiny" are helpful when he does manage to fill the field with strong monsters.

Note

Joey isn't difficult to beat with the right Deck. Fight him a lot at the game's start to earn extra Dominoes and win some really powerful starting cards such as "Baby Dragon" and "Swordsman of Landstar." Don't be surprised if some of the cards are too high for your Duelist Level at first.

Sample Cards: Joey Wheeler

Name	Level	Type	Summon	ATK	DEF
"Armed Ninja"	1	Warrior	Aqua	300	300
"Battle Warrior"	3	Warrior	Earth	700	1000

Rebecca must prove herself if she wants to battle Seto.

Find Rebecca in the southeast corner of the Clock Tower Square. She's still angry with Seto for destroying her uncle's "Blue Eyes White Dragon" card and wants to Duel him. Seto agrees to Duel Rebecca, but only if she can beat you. Rebecca is a lot tougher than she looks. Don't underestimate her. At the start, her Deck is far too powerful for the cards in your Deck. Don't challenge her until you've recovered the first Millennium Item. By that time you should have enough high-power cards to win the Duel. Battle Yugi and Joey a lot at Grandpa's Gaming Shop and you may be able to put together a good Deck that can challenge her early on.

The main strategy with Rebecca is to rob her of Tributes to keep her from dragging out her strongest monster. That's difficult at first, but once your cards can pick past her 800-1300 onslaught, it isn't difficult to keep her under control. Focus on getting a powerful Level 5 or Level 6 monster onto the board as quickly as possible. Use Trap and Spell Cards to fend off her creatures if your own are too weak to go head-to-head.

Sample Cards: Rebecca

Tristan

Tristan doesn't offer much of a challenge, but a victory is a victory.

Find Tristan outside of Grandpa's Gaming Shop near Duke. His Deck is about as strong as the Common Duelists roaming the streets, but the rewards are much less. The typical reward is a one-point boost to your Deck Capacity and a single Domino. Extra cards are easy to win, but for the most part, they aren't worth much when sold. Nonetheless, Duel Tristan several times at the game start just to rack up some easy wins and fill the Think a bit.

Sample Cards: Tristan Taylor

Name	Level	Type	Summon	ATK	DEF
"Ameba"	1	Aqua	Aqua	300	350

"Queen's Double"	1	Warrior	Earth	350	300
"Steel Scorpion"	1	Machine	Forest	250	300

Yugi

Yugi presents a solid challenge at any time.

Yugi separates from the hero whenever the team enters Grandpa's Gaming Shop. This is the only time you can challenge him to a Duel. As expected, Yugi has a fairly powerful Deck. You can beat him, but only by taking advantage of a few weaknesses. The Deck focuses primarily on monsters and Shadow alignments, so put several Dream and Dark-Type monsters in your Deck. There's also a mixture of Fire and Wind alignments, so a few Pyro and Forest-Type creatures in your Deck will help. Yugi relies heavily on powering up and using Tributes to end the battle quickly. It's essential that he not be allowed to gather monsters. Take advantage of the alignments in his Deck, and you should be able to fend off even his strongest assault.

Note

Duel Yugi a lot. You'll get some really great cards and lots of Dominoes. Challenge him repeatedly, and you may be able to collect all five of the "Exodia" cards.

DOMINO CITY: DOMINO STATION

Railway Agents

Entrance to the Duel Express

BOARD

The Duel Express is just ahead, but only the worthy get through these gates.

The Duel Express is waiting at Domino Station. Three Railway Agents block the platform. They won't let your party through until you can prove you're worthy. This is a tag Duel. You must choose between Yugi and Joey as a partner. The choice is inconsequential. Both characters are quick to win their Duels.

The Railway Agent is a bit more challenging than the Duelists wandering around in Clock Tower Square. His Deck has a stronger defense, which is difficult to break through if you haven't yet replaced the weak cards from your Deck. The Railway Agent's Deck comes just about even, so there's no way to easily cut through his cards without a powerful attack. Mix up your Deck with lots of different alignments and use the defense trick to keep those strong defenders in Attack Position. Use power ups if they're available, but this early in the game it's unlikely. In the end, the easiest way past the Railway Agent is to quickly sacrifice a high-level monster, which can easily cut through the toughest defenders to reach the Duelist's LP.

THE DEFENSE TRICK

There's a simple way to get past cards that have a strong DEF but a weak ATK. The computer is normally very aggressive against cards that are brought into play face-down in the Defense Position, because it assumes the card isn't attacking because it's too weak or of the wrong alignment to challenge the cards in play. If a card with a strong DEF is holding you back, bring out any monster and immediately Set it to defend. When the computer takes its turn, it tries attacking the new card, which leaves the strong defender in a weak Attack Position, making it easy to destroy on the next turn. This little feint can be a real LP saver.

Tip

Yu-Gi-Oh! RESHERO DESTRUCTION

Prima's Official Strategy Guide

After the Evil has been defeated, you're free to board the Duel Express. Battle the other Duelists on the platform, and use the Duel Express to restore the hero's LP and before boarding the train.

RIDING THE DUEL EXPRESS

- A Duel Express Conductors
- B Panik
- C The Wealthy Duelist

Speak with the conductors on the train to set the Duel Express in motion.

Save your game, then board the Duel Express at Domino Station. The other Duelists won't Duel until the train is in motion. Speak with the conductor on the left and the train leaves the station on its way to the Egypt Exhibition.

Challenge the conductor on the left to a Duel once the train is moving. He's blocking the door to the next car, and he won't move until he's defeated. The conductor has a lot of Light-Type monsters in his Deck, so playing Shadow-Type monsters is an absolute must. He also has a much stronger defense than an offense, so pack your Deck with some strong Level 5 and 6 cards. Use the defense trick again to lure those strong defender out of the Defense Position and into an attack.

Sample Cards: Duel Express Guard

25/01/01

As the lights go out, Panik becomes even more powerful.

Darkness brings me power!
Time to duel!

The conductor is back enter the train. The train enters a tunnel as the Duel begins and the lights go out, which changes the field to Darkness. That means Fiend-Type monsters get a boost to their ATK and Fairy-Type monsters take a hit. Panik's Deck is heavy on Fiend-Type monsters, so he benefits from the Darkness. Pack your Deck with Light, Dream, Magician, and some powerful Fiend-Type monsters. The Light cards make it easy to take down Panik's Fiend-Type monsters headed your way.

Sample Cards: Panik

Name	Level	Type	Summon	ATK	DEF
"Abundant"	N/A	Spell	N/A	N/A	N/A

"Mystic Lamp"	1	Magician	Shadow	400	300
"Warrior's Knight"	5	Warrior	Shadow	1650	1300

Panik flees from the train into the Egypt Exhibition. Finish chasing the train and then pursue him onto the platform.

WEALTHY DUELIST

One of the few Duelists on the train stands out. In the last car there's a man who uses his wealth to stock up on powerful cards. If you can beat him, there's a good chance you'll earn a powerful card, but it won't be easy. He tends to use a lot of Wind and Aqua cards with a few Fire cards tossed in for safety. Through Wind, Forest, and Aqua cards, it isn't difficult to go through his defenses. Make sure your strongest creatures are of the Thunder alignment, or they'll be struck down. In this battle a strong defense is essential, but so really away with the Duel you need to get a quick Tribute onto the field and bring out a more powerful monster that can withstand assault. Don't be afraid to sacrifice a good monster if it means bringing out something stronger.

COMMON DUEL

There are all kinds of Common Duelists on the Duel Express. Their cards are weaker than those at Clock Tower Square. It's a good problem if you've been Dueling. The weakest cards in your Deck. Everyone has a few weak cards. Just keep improving your Deck and the other Duelist won't be able to keep up. Duel the commuters in the first train car before challenging Panik, and then challenge the Duelists in the back of the train. Chasing Panik. Otherwise you'll miss a good chance to raise your Duelist Level and Deck Capacity.

DOMINO CITY: EGYPT EXHIBITION

1. Find the Millennium Guardian

2. Defeat the Millennium Guardian

THE MILLENNIUM GUARDIAN

Panik is out of the picture, but the Millennium Guardian won't give up the Millennium item without a Duel.

Panik has taken off into the Egypt Exhibition.

Follow him to the Railway Agents, but first go home to restore L and save. Come back and chase him into the storage room in the back. Speak to the person blocking the door and he'll move.

A mysterious person in a black cloak has already sealed Panik's fate. The person is a Millennium Guardian, fated to protect the Millennium items. He'll surrender the first Millennium item, but only if the hero defeats him in a Duel.

The Millennium Guardian's Deck focuses heavily on Light and Dreams cards with a handful of Shadow cards thrown in. A Deck filled with Shadow and Fiends works well in this Duel, but your strongest monster should be of an elemental alignment (Pyro, Aqua, Wind, etc.) so they aren't easily defeated. The opponent has a good mix of attack and defense, so power-ups may be necessary to cut through his monsters.

Traps work wonders, but it's hard to have many Trap Cards so early in the game. If you find it for sale, try picking up the "Yami" Spell Card and switching the landscape to Darkness. The Millennium Guardian's horde of Light Fairies suffer from the Darkness, making them easier to eliminate.

Sample Cards: Millennium Guardian

"Red Medicine"	N/A	Spell	N/A	N/A	N/A
"Wicked Mirror"	N/A	Trap	N/A	N/A	N/A

The first Millennium item has been recovered, but Yugi's vision is troubling.

Winning the Millennium item allows Yugi a glimpse into the future, where it appears Yugi's alter ego is responsible for destroying the city! Talk to the Millennium Guardian once more, and then travel back to Domino City to rest, save, and speak with Ishizu.

COMMON DUELISTS

Duel the lady inside the Egypt Exhibition before taking on the Millennium Guardian. She disappears after the event. Check the train platform after the battle with the Millennium Guardian to find a new Duelist wandering around. Readjust your Deck before challenging anyone new. Customizing the Deck for the Millennium Guardian may have left you with a Deck that would be ineffective against other Duelists.

The Common Duelists in this area aren't much more challenging than those on the Duel Express. Use Pyro and Earth alignments against the guy on the train platform to make the fight a lot easier.

Looking for more action? Things change a lot as events occur. Revisit Domino Station and the Duel Express to find new Common Duelists. As the game progresses, revisit areas to see if you find anyone new, so your Duelist Level and Deck Capacity grow rapidly.

THE PUPPETEER OF DEATH

Beware of the Puppeteer of Death

Upon returning to Domino City, return home to save and restore your L.P. Speak with Ishizu about the Millennium Necklace. It's not enough power by itself to restore the Millennium Items before finding out where the next Millennium item is, Ishizu senses a presence nearby. Enter the Domino City Clock Tower Square.

This fiendish fellow intends to stop you from meddling with Master L's plans.

After defeating you in a duel, he takes you to a place in Darkness, so be prepared to combat the seedy side of Dueling monsters. Fiends and the bulk of the Puppeteer of Death's Deck. Light cards are a must for your Deck. Throw in some Fiends and Dreams to take advantage of his alignments. Remember that Fairies suffer in the Darkness, but Magicians and Fiends receive a boost.

Try to limit the number of cards the Puppeteer can play. Don't let him make Tributes to bring out stronger cards unless you've got strong cards to counter their attacks. With a good assortment of Light and Dreams in your Deck, you shouldn't find him too challenging.

loser. But before he he takes Yugi a card. Play the video. appears. Regains behind the resurrection of the Dark Lord. I suggest you continue the search for the next Millennium item at Domino Pier. The item should be aboard the cruise ship.

NAMED DUELISTS

Rebecca is gone, but the other Named Duelists remain. By now you have plenty of Dominions with which to buy cards, and you can begin refining your Deck a bit. Why not try it out against Mokuba near the Kaiba Building?

Mokuba

Mokuba is ready to accept your challenge.

Find Mokuba in front of the Kaiba Building where Rebecca once stood. He has some powerful cards.

In his Deck, most notably the "Krokodilus," which can be very difficult to eliminate once it's in play. The best strategy is to get a decent defense in place immediately, and then use those defenders as Tributes to bring in higher-level monsters. If you quickly get out a couple of powerful cards it will be difficult for Mokuba to get past them.

He has a lot of Fiends, Shadows, Light, and Dreams in his Deck, so your strongest monsters should be of the elemental alignments. Pack a few Thunder monsters to get rid of those "Krokodilus" cards as they appear. Mokuba is unlike most Named Duelists in that he can only be battled once.

Sample Cards: Mokuba

DOMINO CITY: DOMINO PIER

- A Takeshi
- B Mai and Magnum
- C Millennium Guardian

MAI AND MAGNUM

Magnum is set on making Mai his bride.

Once onboard ship, you witness Mai's suitor, Magnum, trying his best to woo his beloved. He loses the Duel to Mai; he is brokenhearted but remains undaunted. Talk to Mai and agree to Duel Magnum. Lose the Duel and Magnum believes he gets to marry Mai. Don't lose this Duel.

Magnum uses a Magician-themed Deck. Nearly every monster is some sort of Magician, so if you're planning on using Darkness, think again. Not many cards have a negative effect on Magicians other than the "Last Day of the Witch" Spell Card, which wipes out all Magicians in play. The Magician theme means lots of Shadow, Light, and Dreams cards, so have some Fiend, Shadow, and Dreams in your own Deck. Make sure your strongest monsters are of elemental alignments.

Once Magnum has been defeated, speak to Mai Valentine again. Mai mentions a mysterious cargo in the ship's hold, which has been inaccessible, but the couple below her will move, allowing access to the area.

Mai

Mai's "Harpie Lady" cards are tough, but not invincible.

Once Magnum has been defeated, you can challenge Mai. She has a very good Deck, which focuses on her "Harpie Lady" and other Wind cards with a good mixture of Fire and Forest thrown in for support. Most of her cards are high powered straight out of her hand and she's very quick to play combos, which bring out some monsters with devastating potential. Mai is extremely challenging unless you've spent some time collecting cards and raising your Deck Capacity and Duelist Level.

To beat her, construct a Deck of Forest cards with some Pyro and Aqua for backup. The strongest cards in your Deck should be Aqua, Thunder, or a non-elemental alignment. Use whatever power-ups you have, such as an "Hourglass of Life," to ensure that single card can resist her power.

It takes a little luck to defeat her while your Duelist Level is still low. With the Forest cards, you can destroy her most lethal monsters, and the other support cards should help with the rest of her Deck. Use weak cards in a Defense Position and hold her off long enough to get out your more powerful monsters. Then it should be easy to cut her down quickly.

DOMINO CITY: CLOCK TOWER SQUARE

The Millennium Items restore "Slifer the Sky Dragon." Add this powerful card to your Deck.

Now that two Millennium Items are recovered, "Slifer the Sky Dragon" has regained its power. God cards choose their bearers. Ishizu gives Yugi the "Slifer the Sky Dragon" card, but ...so he gives it to the hero. This is a very powerful new monster, so add it to your Deck immediately. It has a level of 0, despite its power, so anyone can use it.

...have the first god card, but you still need to find two others. It's now clear that it takes two Millennium Items to power up each god card. The next Millennium Item is in the catacombs of Italy. Return to the World Map, and Italy is now available.

Tip

Spent some time leveling up and winning more high-level cards. The Duels get tougher from here on out and you won't get far without the right equipment.

ITALY

...the conversation of the white-haired couple to learn the catacombs were a community cemetery long ago. Head down and talk to the scary person in front of the cell—Bonz. He's a guide through the catacombs. There's no time for sightseeing, but Bonz seems to remember seeing an item similar to the one you're seeking. He won't say where until defeated in a Duel. The Neo Ghouls Deck that Bonz uses is strong, but you can handle it.

Bonz's Deck is Zombie themed, meaning it has many Fiends and a few other Monster Types. Put plenty of cards with Light attributes into your Deck. Pick up a couple of "Eternal Rest" Spell Cards if they're available at the Gaming Shop. His Deck isn't very powerful. He can power up his Zombies, so a weak monster can become a serious threat, but a simple defense of Light monsters is normally enough to cut him down quickly.

THE NEO GHOULS

Bandit Keith has taken over the Ghouls. From now on they'll be known as the Neo Ghouls!

After you defeat Bonz, the catacombs suddenly become crowded with old friends including Dark Eternity. Keith for introductions to learn he has taken over the Ghouls after Marik's fall. The Ghouls have been reborn as the Neo Ghouls. Before leaving, Keith mentions that the item you seek can't be found in the catacombs. You'll see that later.

THE MILLENNIUM GUARDIAN

Bonz leads the party to the next Millennium Guardian.

Talk to Bonz again to learn of a hidden chamber in the back of the catacombs. Follow Bonz to the room to the east. Go into the room Bonz moves away from to encounter another Millennium Guardian!

The Millennium Guardian uses a wide variety of cards, but he focuses on bringing out powerful cards very quickly using cards such as "Toad Master." Defeat him by setting up a strong defense right away. Earth cards work very well, and cards such as "Mountain Warrior" have just enough defensive strength to survive his assault. Get a few cards out and then bring in the big guns, and he'll succumb quickly.

Upon defeating the Millennium Guardian, you receive the Millennium Ring, and the image of Bakura appears. Bakura senses a storm brewing over the god cards. Return to Ghoul Tower Square and speak to Ishizu.

Ishizu points to China for the next Millennium Item.

The news that Bandit Keith is also looking for the Millennium Items troubles Ishizu. Reshel preys on the weakness of other Duelists, and Keith may be compromised by Reshel and lured into Darkness. The search must continue quickly! Four Millennium Items remain to be found. Ishizu senses the next Millennium Item can be found at the Great Wall in China.

The quest for Serenity's heart continues.

Swing by Grandpa's Gaming Shop. Tristan and Duke have returned from their training and Serenity finally admits who she likes. Unfortunately, the training doesn't seem to have helped their Dueling skills.

CHINA

- A Para
- Dox
- C Millennium Guardian

PARA AND DOX

That's no old man. It's Para in disguise!

The noodle-making man at the Great Wall is too busy to Duel, so climb the steps onto the Great Wall and speak to the man on the bridge. He seems to know nothing about Dueling, so return to the noodle-making man. Follow Joey's lead and once more, challenge the noodle making man a Duel. It's Para! Time to Duel.

Para starts the Duel on a Dark background, so Fiends and Magicians are strengthened while Fairies suffer. Para's Deck is composed mainly of Earth, Forest, and Thunder monsters with a good deal of power. Build your Deck carefully out of Earth, Pyro, and Wind cards with a focus on Fiends and Magicians. Load up a few Traps and Spells to defend against his strong attacks. It can be difficult to get a couple of Tributes into play, but by taking advantage of alignments something should eventually give. Once a powerful card is out on the board, Para has a hard time eliminating it as long as he's restricted to bringing out one creature at a time.

Sample Cards: Para

Name	Level	Type	Summon	ATK	DEF
"Alimsection"	3	Insect	Forest	950	700
"Bolt Penguin"	3	Thunder	Thunder	1100	800

"Monster Tamer"	5	Warrior	Forest	1800	1600
"Rock"	3	Rock	Earth	800	1000
"Aqua"	7	Aqua	Aqua	2500	2400

The battle isn't over yet. Get ready for the combined power of Para and Dox. Since Para has been defeated, he summons his brother, Dox, from the wall for a tag Duel. These guys just don't play fair. However, before things get moving, Seto Kaiba and Mokuba arrive. Seto humbly offers his assistance in this tag Duel. Choose which brother you'll Duel. If you've already customized your Deck to match Para's it's easier to stick with him. If you're looking for a challenge, try Dox.

Dox's strength equals his brother's, but he uses a slightly different set of cards. His Deck holds a lot of Wind, Aqua, and Thunder cards. There isn't much you can do to prepare for this battle, because it occurs automatically after the battle with Para. Just try to get out some defenders and quickly grab them out for higher-level cards. Ideally the higher level monsters would be non-elemental alignments.

Once the Para Dox duo is defeated, enjoy Seto's rather flamboyant finish to his Duel. In his typical self-congratulatory fashion, Seto takes all the credit for winning the tag Duel. After his long-winded speech, head back to Clock Tower Square to find the last of the Millennium Items.

MILLENNIUM GUARDIAN

The stoic Millennium Guardian waits inside the wall.

Travel back to the catacombs in Italy. Head to the wall to meet the next challenger—a Millennium Guardian. This guy uses a varied Deck of cards, including Elemental, Fiend, Light, Dreams, and Fiend cards, but several elemental alignments as well. Start with a Light card to quickly eliminate his initial assault, because the Fiend and Light cards seem to be more abundant in his Deck. Look for something that provides a quick win, like a Spell that gives you a high-level creature, or a Spell that gives you a high-level creature, or a Spell that gives you a high-level creature. Act quickly and you won't have to worry about getting a high-level creature.

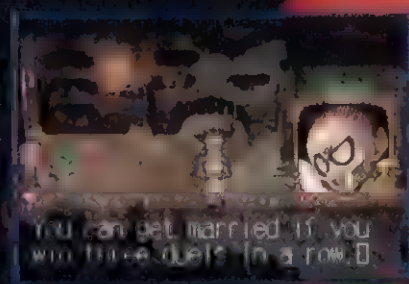

Defeating this Millennium Guardian nets you another Millennium Item, plus a cool 1000 Dominoes. The Pegasus emerges when the Millennium Eye is returned to it Pegasus or Sol Chevalsky? Actually, it's both. Pegasus has been reborn as the troublesome Sol Chevalsky!

REVISIT ITALY

Bonz has Magnum convinced he can marry Mai, but only after winning three Duels in a row.

Head back to the catacombs in Italy for a moment! Magnum and Bonz are together in the lower portion of the crypt. Watch as Bonz predicts the future for Magnum and Mai. Bonz tells Magnum that if he can win three Duels in a row, he'll get to marry Mai. There are three people in your party, so prepare to be challenged!

Magnum's Deck isn't extremely powerful, but he tends to bring out the "Hungry Burger" very quickly, sometimes as early as the second turn.

...with enough attack power to immediately strike down whatever he brings to the field. Rob him of his Divine card by destroying potential Tribute. It takes only a single Tribute to bring out "Hungry Burger." Keep the "Hungry Burger" in check, and the battle will be much easier than those you've just faced.

DOMINO CITY: CLOCK TOWER SQUARE

It's time to take a break from the quest and see a show.

Return to Clock Tower Square with the Millennium Eye and speak to Ishizu. Now that you have the Millennium Ring and Millennium Eye, Ishizu can resurrect another god card—Obelisk the Tormenter. Unfortunately, the god card has decided not to choose you. Instead, it chooses Seto! You must wait until the time is right to regain control of this god card.

When Tristan appears, he tells the group that Serenity wants to see the Kaibaman show. Ishizu agrees that a little rest and relaxation may do the whole group a world of good, so head to the Kaiba building in the southeast corner of Clock Tower Square.

Serenity is part of the show, but is it a show or for real? She's attacked by a "Deepsea Warrior," the "Nightmare Penguin," the "Judge Man," the "Robotic Knight," and "Jinzo"—the Big Bad

Guy Five! Joey enlists your help in rescuing Serenity by having you defeat the Big Bad Guy Five.

Jinzo's Deck is powerful and packed with Fiends and Shadow Monster Cards. However, he has enough elemental alignments that there's no serious weak point in his strategy. Load quite a few Light and Dream cards into your Deck to fight off his monsters, but pack some powerful Earth monsters as well. Jinzo likes to play the "Jinzo" card as quickly as possible. Because it's a Thunder card, any Earth card, no matter how weak, can eliminate it. Get a few good Earth cards with a strong defense onto the field and boost them up. Then hold "Jinzo" off while bringing out a strong creature of your own. Fire and Earth seem to be the best alignments for your strongest monsters.

Once defeated, the group turns a little surly and summons a monster! But not just any monster...they summon an E.G.D.! Luckily, Kaibaman comes to the rescue! Enjoy the rest of the show, then speak to Ishizu.

The one god card left is the "Winged Dragon of Ra." Find the next Millennium Item at an excavation site in Canada.

CANADA

A Rex Raptor

B Millennium Guardian

Rex Raptor waits inside the caves.

Well... I suppose I could share what I know.

Enter the cave and witness a small earthquake that rattles the group's backfilling. Talk to Rex Raptor after the dust settles. He'll give you information on the Millennium Item you seek, but only if you defeat him in a Duel.

The battle takes place on a Mountain background, which boosts Dragons, Winged Beasts, and Thunder monsters. Rex Raptor's Deck takes advantage of all of these. Rex uses a lot of Dragons, which means a lot of Earth and Wind alignments, so fill your Deck with Wind and Forest cards. Fire and Light are good alignments for the strongest cards in your Deck. Consider purchasing a "Dragon Capture Jar" from Grandpa. It can triple Rex's Deck if it's brought into play.

MILLENNIUM GUARDIAN

The next Millennium Guardian waits deep inside the mountain.

After you defeat Rex, he moves aside, clearing the path into the cave below.

Come to save and rest before heading into the cave and facing the next Millennium Guardian.

These Millennium Guardians should be no problem. This guy knows all the rest, with a few new cards thrown into the mix. Set up a defense and bring out a higher-level card as soon as possible. Traps work well for the strongest cards in your Deck. Also put in a lot of Traps and Spells if they're available.

Now your Deck should start to have a theme and have a lot of cards that boost your monster's stats and negatively affect the enemy. If not, consider doing more Dueling on the side.

Once you defeat the Millennium Guardian, you receive the Millennium Rod and go to the next level. There are still two Millennium Items to find. The next Millennium Item is in the Galapagos Islands. Ishizu opens the World Map so you can see the next Millennium Item.

COMMON DUELISTS

Some of the excavation crewmembers are more than happy to Duel.

Put "Tengu" in your Deck to help combat the strength of the excavation crew's cards. These Decks are seriously strong, and you need some strength of your own to hold off the attacks. Add Wind cards to your Deck and play in a defensive mode to help deal with your opponents' rock hard cards. Include power ups in your Deck to increase your cards' ATK. Every Duel in this area is on the Mountain background, so put plenty of Dragons, Winged Beasts, and Thunder monsters in your Deck to take advantage of the background.

GALAPAGOS ISLANDS

- A Mako
- B Weevil
- C Mimic of Doom

The Mimic of Doom is waiting for the party deep within the islands.

When you reach the islands, speak to Mako standing on the beach.

Mako knows there's trouble but is unsure of the cause. When you tell him about Reshel the Dark Being, he suggests you travel farther up the beach.

Enter the temple to find Yami, who has taken the Millennium Item. Don't give Yami the Millennium Items before long your suspicions are confirmed. This isn't really Yami. It's the Mimic of Doom! The Dueling field is in Darkness.

The Mimic of Doom is tough. Expect the average attack to be around 1200, so power is a must. Get some "Bear Traps" in the Deck immediately. They help hold off the enemy long enough for you to get a strong creature into play. The Mimic likes to use Dream alignments, so pack quite a few Fiends in the Deck and find cards that can quickly power them up. Also consider changing the background to weaken his cards.

Once the Mimic has been defeated, you collect the Millennium Scales—that's six Millennium Items. The image of Shadi appears and tells of the danger Pegasus is in. Pegasus is tricked by Reshel into the Dark. Return to Clock Tower Square and speak to Ishizu.

NAMED DUELISTS

Mako

Mako's Aqua cards make him a tough customer in this aquatic environment.

Find Mako on the beach as soon as you enter this area. The battle takes place on a Sea background and Mako's Deck is loaded with Aqua creatures and Sea Dragons that take advantage of the field. Defeating him is difficult, but far from impossible. Load your Deck with Thunder monsters and absolutely avoid Pyro cards. Include one or two cards that can change the background to anything but Sea. His Deck is strong enough without the boost the Sea provides.

The biggest trick to Dueling Mako is dealing with his "Beastking of the Swamp" cards. They allow him to drown all the monsters in play without ever fighting. As soon as you have

DOMINO CITY: CLOCK TOWER SQUARE

THE GROWING TROUBLE

As Resbef's power grows, the cards become weaker.

Speak to Ishizu at Domino City and the "Slifer the Sky Dragon" card turns into stone. If the card was in your Deck, you'll have to replace it. The god cards are gaining incredible strength, for the god cards are returning to stone. Ishizu needs time to ponder these events, but before she can send you on your way, you meet an intriguing person.

TRISTAN WITH THE MONKEY

Could Resbef have turned Tristan into a robot monkey?

Tristan's dog shows up unattended while you're speaking with Ishizu.

Follow the dog back to Grandpa's Gaming Shop where Dan and Serenity sit alone. Something has happened to Tristan. Somehow he's been transformed into a monkey robot. He ran off, and the party suspects he's headed for Galapagos Island. Go look for him.

GALAPAGOS ISLANDS

So many monkeys, but which one is Tristan?

Walk across the island to encounter a large group of monkey robots. There's no telling which one is Tristan, but one appears more aggressive than the rest and charges, forcing a Duel.

These monkeys are much better Duelists than you might expect. Their Decks take advantage of the Forest background, meaning there are lots of Beasts. However, their Decks aren't totally focused on one type of monster or alignment, so there's no easy way to combat them.

Weevil's bugs are a powerful force.

Weevil uses a Deck full of insects. The Duel takes place in a Forest.

Weevil won't go easily. Most of his Insects aren't too strong, but he powers them up quickly. Use Pyro and Light Spells to beat his bugs. Look for an "Eradicating Aerosol" card in Grandpa's Gaming Shop. It's worth the purchase just for this. Fishes take advantage of the Forest background by coming up on Insects, Beasts, Beast-Warriors, and Plants. Use the background quickly to negate Weevil's advantage.

RESHEF & DESTRUCTION

Prima's Official Strategy Guide

Build a Deck out of Thunder, Pyro, and Forest cards with a handful of Light, Fiend, Dreams, and Shadow. Put in strong monsters that can hold off the assault long enough for them to be switched out for higher-level monsters. Use long-range monsters in your Deck because the robot monkeys can't eliminate them without a fair fight. Have "Bear Traps" and other quick elimination Trap and Spell Cards to round off the Deck. Change the background, stripping the monkeys of their advantage, or use Forest Friendly cards like Plants and Beasts in your own Deck.

After the Duel, it's obvious that the monkey robot wasn't Tristan. Duel the other two monkey robots to see if either one is him.

After you defeat all three monkey robots, you still haven't found Tristan. Go into the temple to find the fourth monkey robot that ran off earlier. Challenge it to a Duel, and it's Tristan. The group automatically returns to Clock Tower Square once the Duel is over to present the monkey robot to Serenity, Duke, and Grandpa.

Note

The fourth monkey robot's Deck is very weak, so we haven't covered it here. If you're curious, see Tristan's Deck at the beginning of the walkthrough—the two Decks are exactly alike.

SEEKING SETO

Head to the Kaiba building to find Seto for Ishizu.

Ishizu determines that the card Seto is carrying must have turned to stone. A seventh Millennium Item is needed to return the cards to their former condition. The Millennium Puzzle is the last Millennium Item to be found, and Ishizu thinks she may know where it is. Go to the Kaiba Building and get Seto for Ishizu.

Seto isn't thrilled about being summoned by Ishizu, but he grudgingly leaves the Kaiba Building. While returning to Ishizu, you encounter two cloaked figures picking on the local residents. The Neo Ghouls are attempting to take their rare cards. In fact, the entire city is overrun with Neo Ghouls!

These guys have strong Decks, but most have an exploitable weakness. After they're defeated, they leave the screen, but if you leave the screen and come back, the Neo Ghouls have reappeared. Take your time and fight the Neo Ghouls, but wait for your LP. There's no way to get home right now, so save some for the Rare Hunter.

Neo Ghoul #1

Don't be afraid of the Neo Ghouls. They aren't as tough as they act.

The first Neo Ghoul uses a Deck primarily made of Fiend and Light monsters and a few Spells. Build your Deck with Fiends and Light monsters and a few Spells for support.

RESHERO DESTRUCTION

Prima's Official Strategy Guide

Neo Ghoul #5

This brave kid has bitten more than he can chew.

In the northeast corner of the wheel, a small boy is bravely attempting to fend off the attacks. The Neo Ghoul runs, but the boy appears to be brave. As you reach the boy, a second Neo Ghoul enters from the alley above.

The Neo Ghoul uses a Dragon Deck. Stick a "Dragon Capture" card in your hand, and this guy won't get anywhere. His alignments are all over the place, so no particular alignment works well against him. Try using some Earth cards with strong defenses, with some powerful Forest cards for backup. That should hold off his assault and give you plenty of opportunities to bring out high-level monsters. Traps and Spell Cards also help.

Sample Cards: Neo Ghoul #5

Neo Ghoul #6

The sixth Neo Ghoul is near the clock tower.

The last Neo Ghoul stands next to the clock tower.

This Neo Ghoul uses a Zombie Deck that's heavy on Fiends, Shadow, and Pyro monsters. Build a Deck of Fiend, Shadow, Dreams, and Light monsters with a handful of Aqua monsters. Include an "Exile of the Wicked" Spell Card if it's available.

IN DEFENSE OF SERENITY

Tristan and Duke won't let anything happen to Serenity.

Stay clear of the exit from Domino City and head to the southwest corner just in time to see Serenity being accosted by one of the Neo-Ghouls. Luckily Tristan and Duke are nearby and ward off the attack. Increase your Deck's strength by buying as many new cards as you can afford.

THE RARE HUNTER

Ishizu is missing, and a group of thugs have taken her place.

Fight the Neo Ghouls as long as you like, and then go to the northwest corner to meet Ishizu. She's gone, but Duelists have taken her place. Their leader, Rare Hunter, attacks as soon as he sees your party.

Rare Hunter uses a Deck that focuses heavily on Earth monsters with very high defensive stats. These cards don't pack much of a punch, but they're very difficult to eliminate. Pack your Deck with Wind cards with a supporting cast of strong Earth defenders. The Wind cards can rip through even the toughest of the Rare Hunter's defensive monsters.

However, Rare Hunter has a trick up his sleeve. While you're trying to get past his defense, he's collecting all five of the Exodia cards in his hand. Defeat him quickly, or he'll get a five and win the Duel. Throw a wrench in his plan by putting cards in your Deck that eliminate all cards in the hand, such as "Final Destiny."

ISHIZU KIDNAPPED

Ishizu has been kidnapped! These Neo Ghouls are going to pay.

Talk to Espa Roba to learn that the Neo Ghouls took Ishizu, and Seto is in hot trouble. He was taken somewhere by train through Domino Station, but the Neo Ghouls have taken the station over. You must take the station of Neo Ghouls so you can take the train and find Ishizu.

Before leaving to find Ishizu, battle the Neo Ghouls for a bit. You'll earn several Dominoes and will finally be able to afford new purchases from Grandpa's Gaming Shop.

Tip

ESPA ROBA

Espe Roba is happy to help test your Deck.

Before leaving Clock Tower Square, battle Espa Roba a few times. The best place on a Field background, which benefits Beast and Warriors. Espa's Deck features a lot of Dream and monster monsters with support from Pyro and Thunder. Build your Deck from Fiend and Light monsters. Strong Earth and Water monsters for support. Espa uses a Spell and Trap Cards, so it isn't uncommon for him to only one card in his hand.

The trick to defeating him is to get cards out quickly with the sort of protection, such as Trap Cards, and then bring out high-level monsters of either Fiend or Light. He may take control of one of your monsters and attack, but this is rare and only one turn.

OVERRUN

The Neo Ghouls have the station barricaded. Finding help may be the only option.

Domino Station is completely overrun with Neo Ghouls. It's possible to Duel and defeat the Neo Ghoul standing in the center of the turnstiles, but another Neo Ghoul will just replace him. You need the aid of several Duelists to past these thugs. Fortunately you've already met some very powerful Duelists, but gathering them requires traveling all over the world. First stop is Domino Harbor to recruit Mai Valentine.

Note The Duelists can be tracked down and recruited in any order. If you have trouble with one, skip that person and go to the next. Come back later when your Duelist Level and Deck Capacity have improved.

DOMINO CITY: DOMINO HARBOR

Arkana and his Neo Ghouls are giving Mai trouble, but not for much longer.

Arriving at the harbor, you spy a Neo Ghoul trying to add more rare cards to his Deck by stealing them from Takeshi. Evidently the Neo Ghouls have taken over this area as well. Rush onto the ship to speak with Mai.

Things are no better onboard. Mai is under attack from Arkana's thugs, and there seems to be no end to them. Eliminate the leader, and the rest will follow.

Study Arkana's Deck before going into battle. He's tough and probably has a major advantage. He uses Level 4 cards almost exclusively, which means powerful attacks and rock-hard defenses. To defeat him you must take full advantage of the elements in his Deck.

Arkana's Deck is built primarily from Shadow, Dreams, Light, and Fiend cards, but some of his most powerful cards are Forest aligned. Put Shadow, Dreams, Light, and Fiend cards in your own Deck with a handful of Pryo. Upgrade your Trap Cards "Eatgaboon" and "Bear Trap" to "Invisible Wire," "Widespread Ruin," and "Crush Card" to be effective against Arkana's high ATK points.

The battle takes place in Darkness, so change the field because the current field greatly benefits the powerful monster in his Deck. Have healing cards such as "Red Medicine" to keep your LP up. To beat Arkana, either bring out a powerful card quickly, or power-up a monster using Spells. Either works, but with his constant attacks for more than 1500 points each, there's no time to lose.

After you defeat Arkana, Mai listens to the story of the Neo Ghouls. Grateful for your help, Mai is quick to assist with the problem. She leaves the boat and heads to Clock Tower Square.

Tip When a Duelist is recruited, you can challenge that person to a Duel anytime. Just return to Clock Tower Square, find the person, and challenge him or her to a Duel.

RECRUITING BONZ

Bonz is being pressured to join the Neo Ghouls.

Now travel to Italy in search of more allies. Bonz isn't alone. Another Neo Ghoul is trying to "persuade" Bonz to join Bandit Keith's group. As soon as your party enters the room, the Neo Ghoul attacks.

He's willing to let you join him like the old times!

Ghoul's Deck is a bit weaker than Arkana's Deck, so this battle is easier. The enemy's Deck is based on Forest, Aqua, and Earth alignments with a number of Fiend and Light cards. Build a Deck from Pyro, Thunder, and Wind with a handful of Light and Shadow cards. The Decks attack each other's weaknesses directly, so many cards will be quickly eliminated. Use Traps to prevent having your cards destroyed, and make sure your Deck's strongest monsters are either Light or Shadow. The Neo Ghoul will have a very hard time eliminating you.

After you defeat the Neo Ghoul, Bonz helps free Domino City from the Neo Ghouls. Return home to rest and save, then head back to the

BEATING WEEVIL

Weevil faces off with Lumis & Umbra.

Up the stairs and through the wall to find Weevil face to face with two of the Neo Ghoul's top fighters, Lumis & Umbra. If you agree that Weevil is about to agree to their demands, but it's a clever ruse. Weevil Duels one of the two Neo Ghouls while you Duel the second.

These Duelists are completely different from each other, so choose ahead of time which one to challenge. Neither is easier, but you only have to choose one over the other. If you're not sure, go with a particular type of card.

Lumis has a Deck based on Wind, Light, and Shadow alignments. He likes to use the "Invisible Wire" Trap to eliminate a creature with an ATK as high as 2000. Build a Deck from Forest, Pyro, Light, and Dreams alignments. Put in some strong monsters with Shadow and Fiend alignments. The Trap in Lumis's Deck can be a problem. Whenever he summons a card onto the field that could be a Trap, attack with a weak monster that can trigger the Trap before sending in the big guns.

Umbra uses the Fiend, Shadow, Light, Dreams, Earth, and Thunder alignments. Fill your own Deck with Earth, Wind, Fiend, Shadow, Light, and Dreams alignments. Use Traps such as "Invisible Wire" and "Bear Trap" to help you win. "Invisible Wire" is a powerful card. If you can get an enemy's ATK as high as 2000 (other than a Thunder or Water) with a 1000 ATK monster, 2000 on the board, the battle ends quickly.

After the battle, Weevil joins the team. The next step is Canada.

GALAPAGOS ISLAND

RECRUITING MAKO

There's trouble at the Galapagos Island temple.

Go into the temple on Galapagos Island and watch Mako try to make contact with Strings.

Strings isn't interested in talking to Mako, which is starting to get under Mako's skin. Duel Strings, and Mako will help you with the Neo Ghoul in Domino City.

Strings's Deck is built from cards with Aqua and Earth alignments, so build your Deck from Thunder and Wind. Your strongest cards can be any alignment other than Pyro or Thunder. Once again, use Traps to slow down the enemy and get higher level cards onto the field. All you need is one card with an ATK value of more than 2000 to win. Beware of the "Invisible Wire" Trap Card. Any time there's a potential Trap on his side of the field, attack with your weakest card first.

Mako heads to Clock Tower Square to join the other Duelists once Strings is defeated. It's time for your party to join them as well. Get back to Domino City.

Rescue Ishizu

DOMINO CITY: CLOCK TOWER SQUARE

The streets have quieted down, but Espa Roba is certain that Neo Ghouls are in the shadows.

But the Neo Ghouls they're after are not.

Espe Roba's little brothers are ready for some rest now that the Neo Ghouls that have plagued Domino City are nearly eliminated. After Espa's brothers leave for the Kaibaman show, talk to Espa and agree to track down the last of the Neo Ghouls and defeat them in a Duel. Before beginning the search, go home to rest and save. Talk to your allies around Domino City to learn if they've seen any Neo Ghouls. Mai Valentine and Rex Raptor believe that the Kaiba Corporation is somehow involved. Go to the Kaiba Building to continue the search.

KAIBA CORPORATION

The Rare Hunter is ruining the Kaibaman show!

Follow the Neo Ghoul into the Kaiba Corporation Building. The play is in full swing when you arrive, just as Kaibaman is finishing off the Big Five, a mystery Duelist appears and challenges Kaibaman to a Duel!

Once the mystery Duelist finishes off Kaibaman, the Big Five change their loyalty to their new master...the Rare Hunter. The Big Five are tasked with capturing Espa Roba's little brothers for their new master, but Espa shows up before they can be taken. As Espa faces off against Jinzo, it's up to you to defeat the mystery Duelist.

The Rare Hunter's Deck is entirely focused on summoning "Exodia the Forbidden One" by collecting all five of the Exodia parts in his hand. His Deck contains several cards that allow him to draw faster but lack punch. Build a Deck with Light and Dream alignments to counter his Shadow and Fiend alignments. Add a few Wind cards to take care of his high-level Earth cards.

Speed is essential. Get cards out fast and power them up early. Because his Deck lacks offensive power, you can afford to take some chances when bringing out high-level cards. A few "Final" cards in your Deck help eliminate the cards in his hand.

After you defeat Rare Hunter, Espa says that he'll take you to find Ishizu at the Egypt Exhibition. Board the train to the Egypt Exhibition block and defeat the last of the Neo Ghouls on the train. Return to Domino Station.

DOMINO STATION

CLEAR THE DUEL EXPRESS

Defeat the Neo Ghouls on the train to reach the Egypt Exhibition.

The Neo Ghouls no longer block the station's entrance. Board the train to discover that Neo Ghouls have commandeered it. You must defeat the Neo Ghouls on the train before the train will arrive at the Egypt Exhibition.

The excellent thing about these Duels is that the opponents have only 2000 LP at the start of each Duel. But these Duels won't be easy. Once onboard, you cannot leave the train until it arrives at the Egypt Exhibition, so there's no saving or resting between battles. Keep a few LP restorative cards in your Deck to help counter this.

The first Neo Ghoul has a wide variety of alignments in his Deck. Build your own from Earth, Thunder, and Wind with a healthy dose of Dreams and Shadow for support. Put a few high-level Forest cards into the Deck.

The second Neo Ghoul uses Fiend and Shadow alignments. Pack your own Deck with Dreams and Light alignments and throw in some high-level elemental alignments to back them up. This Duelist's monsters receive a boost from the Darkness covering the field, and traps like "Bear Trap" and anything weaker.

The Neo Ghoul in the last car uses very powerful Dreams Light cards. Fill your Deck with Shadow and Fiends and several high-level elemental alignments. His Deck is hard to break through, due to the number of Traps he plays and his cards' high ATK and DEF levels. Try to quickly get out something strong, and be careful when a Trap is on the field. Let his monsters do the attacking if necessary, but don't waste potential Tributes.

When you finish the third battle, the train pulls into the Egypt Exhibition. Hopefully you won't be too hurt from the three battles. Plenty of Dueling remains.

THE EGYPT EXHIBITION

DUEL PAST THE NEO GHOULS

The Neo Ghouls are determined to keep everyone out of the Egypt Exhibition.

It's not going to be easy reaching Ishizu. Neo Ghouls prevent your progress, and you have no opportunity to return home. Closely watch your LP; you're being repeatedly defeated, return to Grandpa's Gaming Shop and purchase some cards that restore lost LP.

As with the Neo Ghouls on the train, these villains have 2000 Life Points. The first Neo Ghoul uses a Pyro and Wind alignment Deck. Build a Deck from Aqua and Forest alignment monsters and add some high-level Pyro and Wind cards.

Sprinkle in a few high-level Forest, Thunder, and nonelemental alignment monsters. Use Traps and Spells to buy time to get Tributes onto the board, so the strongest monsters can be brought onto the field.

AFTERMATH

"The Winged Dragon of Ra" has its vengeance.

The god cards are restored, which means that "Slifer the Sky Dragon" is once again in the Trunk. The god cards have refused to help Bandit Keith in this battle and turn their vengeance on him. Once Keith has fallen, "The Winged Dragon of Ra" is given to you. Before the group can leave, the ground shakes and Reshef the Dark Being appears. In the struggle with Reshef over the Millennium Puzzle, the Puzzle shatters on the ground. Yugi's other self is lost!

Yugi collects the pieces of the Millennium Puzzle as possible, but in his grief he misses one. Before it can be picked up, Para appears and steals it. To recover the Millennium Puzzle piece, the party must go to Master Chevalsky's castle.

Mokuba has been kidnapped and Seto still refuses assistance.

Meanwhile, Mokuba talks to Seto and reassures him everything is fine back in Domino City. The Neo Ghouls are gone and everything is fine at the Kaiba Corporation. Things seem to be going well for Seto and his brother. Seto's "Obelisk the Tormentor" card has been restored. From out of nowhere, Dox flips into the area and snags Mokuba. If Seto wants him back, he too must go to Pegasus's Castle!

Offer Seto help in rescuing his brother, but he'll refuse once again. Seto is determined to defeat Pegasus alone. Even if he agrees that they must now go to Chevalsky's Palace, but no one knows where it is. Just when things look hopeless, a Millennium Guardian appears. The guardian suggests seeking the Paradox in China.

THE DOLLISTS

Odion still might not be ready for a challenge, but he is ready to pay you back for those early defeats.

Duke has gained a lot of experience from fighting the Neo Ghouls. His drastically altered Deck makes him a much tougher opponent. Duel him a few times to earn some great cards. Duke's new Deck uses Traps and Spells to quickly power up "Gradius," while instantly eradicating monsters that are on your side of the field. This is an effective strategy, but he makes it difficult to get Tributes onto the field. His most notable flaw is his lack of monsters. He relies on his ability to get "Gradius" into play quickly and to keep it there unblocked for several turns.

Put a few Fiend and Wind alignment cards into your Deck to make it easier to eliminate "Gradius" and "The Statue of Easter Island." Otherwise look for cards such as "Doron" and Toad Master. This allows a Toad Master to be put into play immediately. This is a good way to get higher level cards onto the field quickly.

Duke's "Invisible Wire" Trap is a good way to prevent your high level cards from being summoned. Make sure your high level cards have an ATK of at least 1000, making these Traps effective. If you can't get your high level cards to clear out the Traps before sending in the bigger guns. A couple of other cards that work well against Duke are "Bad Reaction to Shinichi," which negates the effect of the cards he uses regularly, and "The Great Trap," which negates his power-up, triggering instead a power-up of the other.

EGYPT

MEETING WITH MARIK

Odion isn't willing to let the party see Marik.

Odion greets the party but refuses to take them to Marik. You're presented with two options: Challenge Odion to a Duel, or come back later. Choosing the Duel starts a battle, but opting to leave and return later gets the party in the door without a battle. It's easiest to skip the Duel, but you miss an opportunity to raise your Duelist Level and Deck Capacity.

The problem is that you may lose a lot of LP against Odion, and Marik is no pushover. You won't have a chance to save, rest, or even change your Deck before the Duel with Marik begins. Try the Duel option. If the LP loss keeps you from beating Marik, come back and choose the non-confrontational option.

RESHEFO DESTRUCTION

Prima's Official Strategy Guide

This is a tricky Duel. Odion's Deck focuses heavily on Trap and Spell Cards. It's very difficult to get monsters onto the field and keep them there for more than one or two turns. Put cards in your Deck that can be drawn out quickly (Level 4 or below).

It will be very difficult to get into the field if you can't replicate itself or draw out a second monster, such as "Doron" or "Toad Master." Combine these with "Darkness Approaches" and it's easy to get two to four cards into the field in just a couple of turns.

Put some cards in your Deck that can eliminate Trap and Spell Cards, such as "Final Destiny" and "Harpie's Feather Duster." Eliminate his Spells and Traps and he'll be crippled indefinitely. This presents a good opportunity to quickly bring out a monster and whittle away at Odion's Life Points.

Marik can help, but not until you prove worthy.

Marik can help awaken the "The Winged Dragon of Ra," but because the card is so powerful, he tests your ability to see if you're ready for the Duel that follows is very challenging.

Marik's Deck has many Spell Cards and he knows how and when to play them. He plays "Swords of Revealing Light" often. This card prevents you from attacking for three turns, which provides Marik with plenty of time to get monsters onto the field. This is tough to overcome, but a good selection of "Invisible Wire" and "Beckon to Darkness" cards will allow you to hold off his attack and prevent him from using Tributes to bring out higher-level monsters. Also expect Marik to use the dreaded "Raigeki" at least once during the Duel. This is easily countered with an "Anti Raigeki" card if the timing works out.

This Duel forces you to walk a fine line between bringing out enough monsters for defense and Tribute without committing everything to the field. It's important to get something onto the field. A good monster with ATK and DEF more than 2000 can hold its own for several turns. But placing all of your monsters onto the field leaves them open to instant eradication by one of the many Spells in Marik's Deck. It's sometimes best to put one monster out at a time until you can get some defensive Spells onto the field to counter these devastating attacks.

Put plenty of Spells in your Deck that instantly wipe out enemy monsters and buff your own. Also consider trying to change the field to your advantage. The Duel takes place on a plain background, so any change may provide an edge. Take advantage of "Slifer the Sky Dragon." This monster is immune to many of the Spells Marik uses and can sit on the field for a long time. A single attack by "Slifer the Sky Dragon" is often enough to win the Duel. Send in a few weak monsters first, or use a "Harpie's Feather Duster" to clear the field of Traps before attacking.

After you win the battle, "The Winged Dragon of Ra" (Battle Mode)

"The Winged Dragon of Ra" (Battle Mode) is awakened once Marik has been defeated. Unfortunately, Marik cannot remember how to activate Phoenix Mode, which makes the card indestructible. He suggests that you seek out the knowledge he lacks, and then he sends the party on its way. Return to China to speak with Paradox.

CHINA

THE TRAIL

Paradox provides the location of Pegasus's Castle only after the party proves themselves in a true endurance test.

Now that Mark has awakened Ra, travel back to China and speak with Paradox to learn the location of Pegasus's Castle. Getting the information from Paradox won't be easy. Before he divulges Pegasus's location, he wants to Duel. Follow Paradox to the place to confront not Paradox, but a Millennium Guardian! Luckily, the Millennium Guardian has 3000 LP rather than the normal 8000.

The Millennium Guardians stand between the party and Paradox. You must win all five battles without returning to Domino City to save or rest. Walk off screen to the left or lose. Duel, and you're forced to face all five Millennium Guardians again. Thus the real challenge is getting to Paradox with enough LP to win the Duel. That's not easy, because these Duelists are prepared with strong Decks that quickly eliminate an opponent's LP.

Speed is an absolute must. The Millennium Guardians use "Reactor Revolution," which causes 200 points of damage to your LP for every card in your hand. This card is often played on the first turn and sometimes in pairs, so at the start of a battle it may cause as much as 2000 points of damage. Use plenty of Trap and Spell Cards that instantly eliminate monsters. Traps below the "Bear Trap" level won't be effective, so skip them for now. In fact, dump the "Bear Trap" cards in favor of "Invisible Wire" cards just to be safe.

Traps and Spells should delay the opponent long enough to allow you to bring a Level 5 or 6 monster onto the field. Such monsters can eliminate the Millennium Guardians in two turns if the Traps and Spells keep the field clear. If you have a low Duelist Level and Deck Capacity, scrap your Level 3 and 2 monsters in favor of Traps and Spells and fill the Deck with Level 1 and 2 monsters of Light, Fiend, Dreams, and Shadow alignments. If your level is higher, try to get several high-power cards into the Deck with an attack of 1600 or more. This way you can cut through the enemy's monsters easily.

Paradox quizzes you about the cards won from the Millennium Guardians.

As you defeat each Millennium Guardian, you gain a card. These range wildly in value, but are very important. Keep track of the cards given to you after the battle—not those won, but those presented by the Millennium Guardian to the party. Once you reach Paradox, he asks if you understand the meaning of these cards. Then he quizzes you to see if you truly understand their significance.

The questions are which card should be first and which should be last. The "Kuriboh" is the correct choice for the first card, because it has the lowest level. The last card should be the "Curse of Dragon," because it has the highest level. Answer carefully. Mess up and Paradox boots the party back to the start and you have to Duel the Millennium Guardians again.

Tip Looking to make some major card purchases? This is your best opportunity. The Millennium Guardians reward you with the same cards every time, and you get a nice reward for winning the Duel. Run through the Millennium Guardians over and over and sell the extras. Some of the cards are worth nearly 2000 Dominoes each.

When you answer the questions correctly, Paradox initiates a Duel. Unfortunately, Paradox comes to the Duel with a full 8000 LP and you're left with whatever the Millennium Guardians didn't take.

Paradox's Deck is a lot like those the Millennium Guardians use, but more lethal. The average attack power is 1600 rather than 1500. This is just enough

Pegasus Island

DUELING YOUR WAY TO THE CASTLE

You must make this journey about Ishizu's ban.

You've finally made it to Pegasus Island! Ishizu accompanies the party to the Island, though she won't join them as they Duel to Pegasus Castle. Talk to Ishizu at the entrance before starting out on the final leg of the long journey. Walk through the gondola door to begin.

Your LP doesn't match the Chevaliers'.

As the tram begins its trek to Pegasus Castle, a strange creature jumps into the car. Master Chevasky has been creating Duellists. This one is confident he can stop the pursuit of Pegasus and Reshero the Dark Being. Duel and defeat three Chevaliers before reaching the castle. Lose any of these Duels and you return home and start the process over again.

If you must call us by name, we are the Chevaliers!

The Chevaliers start with 10,000 LP against your 8000 on the first Duel. LP is not restored after each Duel, so whatever LP you end up with gets carried into the next Duel. Keep Trap and Spell Cards at the ready to stop LP-draining attacks until you have a chance to take some away from the opponent.

The Deck you used to defeat Paradox works well for these battles, with some alignment adjustments. The trick is to prepare for the battles after the tram rather than those on it. The Chevaliers are tough, but not half as tough as Paradox or Marik. All three of the Chevaliers Duel in a very similar fashion, so a Deck that works on one tends to work against all three. That's good, because there's no break between the Duels.

The necessary Deck adjustments are simple. Replace the monsters in your Deck with Light and Dreams or Fiend and Shadow alignments. Why? The Mimic of Doom and Panik wait at the end of the line. The Light and Dreams alignments give you an edge against Panik's Fiend- and Shadow-heavy Deck, or the Fiend and Shadow alignments make it easier to defeat the Mimic of Doom's Dreams and Light Deck. The Magician- and Fiend-Type monsters get a boost from the Darkness in the final battles.

Make the rest of the Deck a mixture of Spells and Traps. Use a few Spells that can eliminate enemy monsters when you're unable to attack. The "Swords of Revealing Light" is used often. Without Spells to attack the enemies' creatures, they can bring out their strongest monsters while you're helpless to stop them.

PANIK AND THE MIMIC OF DOOM

Choose to Duel Panik or the Mimic of Doom.

After you defeat the Mimic of Doom, Chevalier, the tram stops.

As you leave the tram, you're greeted by Panik and the Mimic of Doom.

They won't let the party pass without a Duel. This is another tag team match-up. Choose to Duel either Panik or the Mimic of Doom.

You can't adjust your Deck before the Duel. You're choosing to face off against Panik and Shadow. Panik uses the Fiend and Shadow Deck. The Mimic of Doom uses the Light and Dreams Deck. If you followed our advice about setting up your Deck before the Chevaliers, you'll know which to pick. Both Duels are challenging, so there's no real advantage to Dueling one over the other. The strategy is the same for this Duel as it was for the three previous Duels.

After you defeat your chosen Duelist, Panik thinks he can renege on the deal and wants to Duel until the outcome is more favorable to him. Outnumbered and lacking any god cards in his Deck, Joey chooses to hold off Panik and the Mimic of Doom to allow the others to continue in their pursuit of Pegasus. Head east to return to the World Map. A new location, Dungeon, is now available. Return to Clock Tower Square to advance before advancing to the Dungeon.

Dungeon and Pegasus Island locations share the same spot on the World Map.

Just keep scrolling and the location name and picture changes between the two locations.

DUNGEON

Before heading to the Dungeon, return to Domino City to restore your LP and restructure your Deck, including some of the great cards won from the Duelists defeated so far.

Tip

THE CHEVALIERS

Use alignment cards to defeat the Chevaliers.

Watch the cinema of Pegasus, (a.k.a. Master Chevalsey) and his disciples. The path through the Dungeon is blocked by two Chevaliers. Choose either the west or east path to reach the Dungeon's exit. The Chevaliers begin with 10,000 LP, so prepare for a potentially long Duel. Each of the Chevaliers has a unique Deck. Their basic strategies are identical but the monsters are of different alignments. The Deck you used to defeat the previous Chevaliers should work well with a new assortment of Monster Cards.

Either path holds three Chevaliers. Each battle takes place on a Mountain terrain, so Dragon, Rock, and Zombie Type cards have an advantage. Pack your Deck with these types as much as possible, while taking advantages of the alignments noted with each Chevalier. Make sure the strongest cards in your Deck (Level 5 or 6) are of an alignment used by the enemy so they're nearly impossible for the enemy to defeat.

Big and bad doesn't mean a thing in these battles where alignments are king.

Consider dropping those high-cost monsters in favor of less expensive Level 1 and 2 monsters. Put at least four or five Level 5 or 6 monsters in your Deck and use the lower-level monsters as Tributes to get the stronger creatures out. Use the extra Deck Capacity to put in valuable Spell Cards such as "Raigeki" and "Soul of the Pure."

Tip

Chevalier #1 (A)

The first Chevalier on the west path uses a Forest, Thunder, and Earth Deck. Thus make a Deck of Wind, Earth, and Pyro alignments mixed with Traps such as "Invisible Wire," and Spells such as "Beckon to Darkness."

Can Yugi handle both Para and Dox?

Just when Yugi thinks he's on the ropes, his "Dark Magician" comes to the rescue! Even though you and Yugi have beaten Para and Dox fair and square, these two don't give up, and they won't let you pass until you Duel again. Knowing what's at stake, Yugi takes on both of them, allowing you to continue to find and defeat Pegasus on your own.

After you leave Yugi to battle it out with Para and Dox, another Chevalier is ready to Duel just before the exit to the World Map. It isn't necessary to Duel this Chevalier. If you do, you must start over at the beginning of the Dungeon and battle Para and Dox once again. Don't start this fight unless you're certain you can finish it.

The battle with the last Chevalier is relatively easy. The major twist is that the terrain is field instead of "Mountain." That means that Beast-Warriors and Warriors get the bonus in this Duel. Construct a Deck of Beast-Warriors and Warriors. Another catch is that the last Chevalier's Deck has no real theme, so the alignment strategy doesn't work. Rely more on Trap and Spell Cards to hold off the enemy, and use weaker monsters only as Tributes and to block incoming attacks. You can win with the Deck used to defeat Para and Dox, but it isn't as certain. Throw in a few combos, because alignments really do matter in this Duel. Summon monsters such as "Baby Dragon" and "Time Wizard," or "Kuriboh" and "Multiply" to help get "Slifer the Sky Dragon" onto the field.

After the last Chevalier in the Dungeon has been defeated, return to Clock Tower Square to rest, save, and visit Grandpa's Gaming Shop to refine your Deck. Then it's time to invade Pegasus Castle.

Pegasus Castle shares the same location on the World Map as Pegasus Island and Dungeon.

DECEPTION AND THE SPIRIT CARDS

You must have the Spirit Cards to get through this maze.

Surprisingly, Paradox meets you at the door to Pegasus Castle. The only way through the maze is to collect Spirit Cards that embody the spirits of fellow Duelists. You must win these Spirit Cards in Duels.

Pegazus has taken the spirits of Duelists you have defeated and placed them in his castle to prevent you from reaching him. According to Pegasus, they cannot be defeated. Head toward the door to the north and Bonz appears.

DURING BONZ'S IMPOSTER

What's wrong with your ally?

The ally who aided you in clearing the Neo Ghouls from Domino City is back with a vengeance, and he doesn't intend to lose to you this time. His Deck relies heavily on Shadow, Dreams, and Fiend alignments. The Darkness terrain adds to his Deck's power and makes him a formidable opponent, especially for those who reached this point quickly.

On some low-level Light, Fiend, and Dreams Monster Cards in your Deck as fuel to summon higher-level monsters. Be very careful when choosing the higher-level creatures. With the boost provided by the Darkness, Bonz's Level 5 and 6 monsters can easily cut through most others. Either take advantage of the Darkness, or change the terrain to eliminate this bonus. We strongly suggest adding "Soul Hunter," "Ushi Oni," "Dragon Seeker," "Moropphen," and any other Level 5 or 6 Fiend-Type monsters with an ATK of at least 1800 to your Deck. These cards, combined with Traps and Spells to buy time, make defeating Bonz easy. Top off the Deck with a few Fiend power-up Spells such "Axe of Despair."

Continue north through the castle after defeating Bonz. He appears again for another Duel. This is what Bonz and Pegasus meant when they said the Duelist couldn't be defeated. There is a trick to this puzzle, but the solution requires leaving the castle.

BONZ'S SPIRIT CARD

The real Bonz is still in Italy.

Go to the World Map and travel to Italy. The real Bonz is in the tombs. Speak to Bonz, and then challenge him to a Duel.

Bonz uses a Fiend Deck with lots of Zombies on a W terrain. The terrain provides a bonus for his monsters, so they're extra strong. Build a Deck of Light alignment monsters and it will be nearly impossible for Bonz to attack. Finish off the Deck with any Level 5 and 6 Rock, Zombie, or Dinosaur monsters of any alignment other than Dreams. If you don't have many monsters of this type, try switching the terrain to something more favorable. This might be a long battle, but it should be simple.

Gracious in defeat, Bonz understands the weighty responsibility you carry for everyone and offers you his Spirit Card "Pumpkin the King of Ghosts." Return to Pegasus Castle and head to the north door to spawn the Bonz copy once more. Du this phony again and defeat him for the last time.

DEFEATING REX'S IMPOSTER

Rex's Earth cards are tough!

You'll find the copy of Bonz, go north through the door and Rex appears. Defeat him just as you defeated Bonz's imposter before you can leave the castle and challenge the real one.

Rex relies heavily on Earth alignment cards, mixed with a variety of monsters of a nonelemental alignment. Before the battle, restructure your Deck, loading it up with plenty of low-level Wind cards and a light mixture of Shadow, Light, and Fiend alignments. Use high-level Fiend alignment monsters such as those suggested for the Duel with Bonz's imposter. The terrain remains in Darkness, so they get a nice boost to their stats.

REX'S SPIRIT CARD

Fiends and Earth cards fill Rex's Deck.

After you defeat the copy of Rex, leave the castle and travel to Canada. Challenge the real Rex to win Rex's Spirit Card. The real Rex likes to play several Fiend cards in addition to his hitting Earth alignment cards. Build a Deck of Wind and Light alignments to counter. Top off the Deck with high-level Fiend cards. The Duel takes place on a Wasteland terrain, so Rock, Zombie, and Dinosaur monsters get a bonus. Consider replacing the high-level cards with monsters of these types. Try the Deck used to conquer Rex's imposter. It may work.

With Rex's defeat, you receive his Spirit Card "Two-Headed King Rex." Stop by Domino City before returning to Rex's imposter to restore, save, and rest. Defeat Rex's imposter to move deeper into Pegasus Castle.

DEFEATING WEEVIL'S IMPOSTER

Pyro monsters aid you in this Duel.

Weevil Underwood is the next imposter you must defeat in Pegasus Castle. Weevil loves Insect-Type monsters, so pile plenty of Pyro alignment monsters into your Deck. Also throw in a handful of Wind and Light alignments just to be safe. Pyro alignments are an excellent choice for the high-level monster in the Deck. It's even better if they're of the Fiend and Magician-Type, so they receive the stat boost from the Darkness terrain. Weevil's imposter uses some surprisingly weak monsters, often having an ATK rating well below 1500. Level cards usually hold up well in this battle, and they don't require a Tribute.

With the imposter defeated, leave the castle and return to Domino City to rest and save. Travel to Galapagos to challenge the real Weevil Underwood.

Weevil feels right at home on this Dueling field. The Forest terrain greatly benefits Weevil's monsters. It improves the stats on Beast-Warriors, Plants, and Insects. Either take advantage of this terrain when building your Deck, or quickly switch to something that's in your favor.

The Deck used against Weevil's imposter should work just as well against Weevil. You may want to drop a couple of cards in favor of "Yami" to change the terrain. Weevil plays a lot of weak monsters but powers them up quickly. Use "Harpie's Feather Duster" to prevent this if possible.

Weevil isn't a gracious loser, but nonetheless he offers you his Spirit Card "The Insect Queen" after you defeat him. Return to Pegasus Castle and defeat Weevil's imposter once again to clear the path to the next Duelist.

DUELING WITH WEEVIL

Thunder up against Mako's Aqua

With the Weevil imposter defeated, return to Pegasus Castle. This time your opponent is a Mako imposter. Prepare your Deck to combat Mako's favorite alignment with Thunder alignment cards and a few Aqua cards on the side. If possible, make nearly every card a Thunder alignment card. Mako's aim is to win exclusively. A weak Level 1 Thunder alignment card can often survive the entire battle. Watch out for his powerful attack unless there are no potential Traps on the opponent's side or unless you have more than one monster on the field.

MAKO'S SPIRIT CARD

Defeat Mako to get "The Legendary Fisherman."

Travel back to Galapagos to find and challenge the real Mako. He senses you are as troubled as the sea and quickly agrees to a Duel. The terrain in this battle is sea, so be prepared for Mako's monster stats to benefit. The same Deck used against Mako's imposter will work here. He's still crazy about Aqua alignments, so Thunder alignments make short work of him. Also consider putting an "Eternal Drought" card into your Deck to wipe out all of Mako's Aqua cards on the field.

Note By now, your Deck Capacity is high enough that you can add a few cards to your Deck that have a higher cost. Spend a few Deck Capacity points to include some heavy hitters. But remember that high-level cards aren't always the answer. A Deck loaded with Level-3 cards can be just as deadly if the strategy behind the Deck is sound.

DUELLING ESPA ROBA'S IMPOSTER

This imposter seems confident that your Dueling days are over.

Espa has a fairly diverse Deck, though the strategy is primarily on the strength of his Fiend, Light, and Dreams alignment cards. Counter this by including Light, Shadow, and Fiend alignment cards in your own Deck. His primary strategy is to bring out lots of Warriors and switch the terrain to field to give them a stat bonus. The best way to combat this is to fill your own Deck with five to six high-level Warriors or Beast-Warriors, with ATK of more than 1500. Then include at least one "Sogon" card to switch the terrain if the opponent takes too long doing so. Otherwise, rely heavily on your Trap and Spell Cards, because it's nearly impossible to play the alignment game against him.

ESPA ROBA'S SPIRIT CARD

The real Espa Roba is in Clock Tower Square.

After defeating the imposter Espa Roba, return to Clock Tower Square to rest and save. Then stop and speak with the real Espa Roba just east of the exit to the World Map. The real Espa Roba uses a Deck similar to the one used by the fake Espa, so the same Deck works well in this Duel. The main difference is that the Duel starts on a field background, so all Warriors and Beast Warriors automatically get the stat boost.

Espa offers his Spirit Card "Jinzo" to you once he's defeated. Return to Pegasus Castle to wipe out the Espa Roba imposter, and then rest and save again before exploring the castle further.

MAI VALENTINE'S IMPOSTER

Mai's Imposter is as tough as the real thing.

Mai's Imposter gets right into the Duel. The Imposter's Deck has a mix of alignments that is difficult to get a handle on because it relies heavily on Wind alignments. Build a Deck from Forest alignments with a few Shadow and Fiend alignments for backup. Most of the cards played have a relatively low ATK, so if you can quickly get out a monster with a high ATK, it can dominate for a long time. The opponent uses "Acid Trap Hole" frequently, so send in weak cards before attacking with your best

MAI'S SPIRIT CARD

Mai is more than happy to help you in your quest.

After returning to Clock Tower Square to rest, I travel to Domino Pier and talk to the real Mai, who's still on board the ship. She's willing to help and ready to Duel at any time.

She gives her special Harpie Lady Deck, which is also heavy on Wind alignments but has enough Earth and Pyro cards that you're forced to consider them. Load up primarily on Forest alignments, but not for high-level monsters, because she can eliminate these easily. Back up the Forest cards with Wind and Aqua. Both Wind and Aqua are also good choices for those high-level cards, because Mai really doesn't have anything in her Deck that can stop them easily. Beware of Mai's Traps and Spells. Use a "Harpie's Feather Duster" to prevent her from summoning up her monsters. The Duel takes place on Mountain. Try to put as many Dragon, Winged Beast, and Thunder in your Deck as possible. Otherwise, change the terrain early in the Duel.

Mai gives you her Spirit Card "Harpie Lady" after being defeated. Now, it's time to return to Pegasus Castle to defeat the final Imposter.

You may want to revert to the Deck you used previously to beat the Imposter.

DUELING MOKUBA

Mokuba's under Reshef's control.

As you finally make it through the last door, you witness the final blows of a Duel between Seto and a Chevalier. Though you're there to help defeat Pegasus and Reshef the Dark Being, Seto wants to deal with Pegasus on his own. Ishizu can't convince Seto that he cannot stand against Pegasus alone, because Seto's pride can't allow him to recognize there is strength with all Suddenly Mokuba appears and challenges his own brother to a Duel. Someone or something has taken control of Mokuba's spirit and Seto can't bring himself to battle his own brother. Ishizu thinks you should Duel Mokuba to break the mind-control spell he's under. Agree to take Seto's place and Duel Mokuba.

Mokuba's Deck is all over the place. It relies heavily on a high Deck Capacity, which allows Mokuba to play very strong Level 4 cards. This gives him a distinct advantage unless your Deck is very well thought out. First of all, Deck Capacity has nothing to do with success or failure in this Duel. All that matters is managing your cards and developing a strategy to your Deck.

Pick a terrain and build around it to give yourself an advantage in the Duel. It doesn't matter what you choose. Then give yourself plenty of inexpensive, low-level creatures to bring out higher level monsters. Put in the god cards and about five or six Level 5 or 6 monsters. Combine this with Traps such as "Invisible Wire," "Widespread Ruin," and "Infinite Dismissal" to buy some time during the

Yu-Gi-Oh!

RESHEF: DESTRUCTION

Prima's Official Strategy Guide

to beat Mokuba's high-level monsters. Add Spells that can be used to either chosen, change the terrain, and add to your Deck "Darkness" and "Raigeki."

Now that you won't be anywhere near your opponent's field, swap some of the low-level cards with Level 4 cards with great effects such as "Revival Jam" or "Fiend's Curse." Add a Spell or two, such as dropping a "Goblin's Curse" or a "Soul of the Pure." Also check out "Flaming Star." By now you should have a nice chunk of change to spend on a few powerful cards to add to your Deck. This really helps to your Deck. At the end, you should have a Deck that can withstand Mokuba's powerful monsters.

Sample Cards: Mokuba

Name	Level	Type	Summon	ATK	DEF
"Darkfire Soldier #1"	4	Pyro	Pyro	1700	1150
"Immortal of Thunder, The"	4	Thunder	Thunder	1500	1300

"Talons of Shurilane"	6	Fiend	Dreams	2100	2050
"Widespread Ruin"	N/A	Trap	N/A	N/A	N/A

The Deck you used against Mokuba should beat Seto. His strategy is a bit more refined, but he's still vulnerable to the same tactics. Just make sure he's unable to get a combination of the "X," "Y," and "Z" cards onto the field, or there'll be major trouble. With all the Machine-Type cards Seto tries to play, activate "Stain Storm" when Seto plays Machine-Type monster. This Spell destroys all Machines on the opponent's field.

When the battle is over, Seto gives you his god card, "Obelisk the Tormentor." Add it to your Deck and get set for a big challenge by going home to save and rest. Pegasus awaits.

Structure your Deck to prepare for battle against both Pegasus and Reshef the Dark Being. You can't return to Domino City after you defeat Pegasus. Your Deck must be set up to defeat both Duelists.

Tip

PEGASUS AND RESHEF THE DARK BEING

Pegasus's spirit must be freed from Reshef.

Pegasus, or Sol Chevalsky as he now prefers to be known, is under the spell of Reshef the Dark Being. With the Millennium

Puzzle in his possession, Pegasus demands one more Duel.

Pegasus starts out with 20,000 LP, almost three times the number of LP with which you begin the Duel. To offset this LP mismatch, you must be clever with the use of your cards. Pegasus has powerful monsters to summon onto the field. Weigh your options carefully and let Pegasus make the first move before committing a monster to the Dueling field.

Prepare your Deck for this Duel before advancing to meet Pegasus. Once you move forward there's no going back. The Duelists you're about to face are the toughest in the game. Their Decks are perfect and challenging even for someone with an extremely well-developed Deck.

DUELING SETO

You must defeat Seto to win his god card.

Defeating Mokuba breaks the spell he was under. Grateful, in his own way, that you helped his brother, Seto concedes that you should be the one to face Pegasus. And although he offers you his god card to use in your upcoming battle, it comes at a price. You must defeat Seto in order to gain his god card.

Not surprisingly, Seto starts the Duel with both barrels loaded. Don't shrink from summoning low-level cards to keep your opponent from summoning high-level cards. Pitting alignments against each other when possible, and using all the Trap Cards you can, until a break in the action allows you to bring in stronger monsters.

Start by swapping out Monster Cards. You should have all three of the god cards in your Deck along with an equal share of Light and Darkness alignment monsters. Pegasus has a good variety of alignments in his Deck, but Reshef tends to use just Shadow and Fiend, so this setup helps in the second battle more than the first. That's ok—the second battle is much tougher. Put some high-level Shadow and Fiend monsters in the Deck. The Duels take place in Darkness, so use any Fiend- and Magician-Type monsters you have unless you plan to change the terrain.

Put several types of Traps. "Acid Trap Hole" and "Wide Area Ruin" are musts. "Torrential Tribute," "Infinite Darkness," and "Anti Raigeki" are also very valuable if you can afford them. Traps buy you some much-needed time. Good Spells to include are "Dian Keto the Cure Master" for healing, "Beckon to Darkness" to help eliminate strong enemy monsters, "Harpie's Feather Duster" to wipe out the opponent's Trap and Spell Cards, and "Raigeki" to quickly decimate the opponent's monsters.

Getting the god cards onto the field is the big trick to winning both of these battles. To do so, look for combos such as "Kardian" and "Multiply" to quickly create Tributes. Other combos such as "Doron," "Toad Master," "Revival Jam," and "Spirits in the Books," combined with "Darkness Approaches," also allow you to create additional monsters quickly. Cards such as "Pot of Greed" and "Goddess of Whim" ensure that you get to the god cards quickly.

These battles are extremely challenging even with an unbeatable Deck. Don't expect to win easily. It will probably take many, many attempts. It may be best to opt out of putting an estate on each Duel, or at least on the second Duel with Reshef. Good luck!
